THE VIRGINIAN

DR. J. L. JARMAN
Our President

The Virginian

Nineteen Hundred and Twenty One

Edited by Senior Class of the State Normal School
Farmville, Virginia

CREATIONS

IT has been our aim to present in this volume of The Virginian a true, vivid picture of all phases of life at S. N. S. We do not submit this work as a masterpiece of literature, and make no apologies for it. We have done our best! Should these pages serve as a memorial of the happiest recollections of your school days here, as a remembrance of those classmates whom you once loved and worked with, and as a means of keeping the memory of your Alma Mater ever dear to you, we shall have attained our purpose.

Dedication

We, the members of the class of nineteen hundred and twenty-one,
as a token of our love, appreciation, and esteem of her daily example to us of the virtues of sound thinking and noble living, do affectionately dedicate this volume of

The Virginian

to

Miss Florence H. Stubbs

ALMA MATER

Alma Mater

O, here's to thee, dear mother true,
Thy ideals and thy dream,
That we may ever faithful be,
In following the gleam!
O, how could we the distant far
Depart from all thy ways?
Thy daughters will all worthy be,
Throughout thy length of days!

All hail to thee, O mother fair,
Our happy second home,
Midst lofty skies of heavenly blue,
Thy stately walls and dome,
Reveal to us thy spirit true,
The music of thy life;
May we with vision born of right,
Subdue ill-will and strife!

Now Alma Mater, mother kind,
The world voice ever calls,
And tho' our love for thee is deep,
Soon we must leave thy halls;
For there are those who always need
Thy truth and wisdom pure,
Stern duty calls—we hear and heed,
In filial love to thee.

Mary Stephenson.

Faculty Room (Faculty assembled upon last toll of study bell—all are quiet and in place except Mr. Merrit Will Watchem.)

Mr. "Rat" Oppen Sishun.

Before revealing the purpose of this meeting, we will have the roll-call. I will appoint Mr. Merit Will Watchem to see that all doors are closed and windows shut fast. Let us now proceed with the roll.

(Mr. I-Will Tellem calls the roll.)

Mr. I-Will Tellem—

Miss Ewell Grind? Miss Ewell Grind? (Miss Grind is so engaged in correcting history papers that she does not answer until Miss Singem Wright gives her a punch with her stick.)

Miss Ewell Grind—

Present. I beg your pardon but these papers are so interesting that they lift me out of the real and take me back to my dear friend Hannibal.

Mr. I-Will Tellem—Miss Coquette Winkle? (Miss Winkle is so engaged in tete-tete with Mr. Blushem Redd that she does not hear, Mr. Redd being the cynosure of all eyes does full credit to his name.)

Mr. I-Will Tellem—Miss Sallie A. Daring?

Miss Daring—Quite inconvenient and disconcerting to be called up for faculty meeting when I've a bid to Hampton Sidney dance to-night.

Mr. I-Will Tellem—Mr. Blushem Redd?

Mr. Redd—Present (but otherwise engaged).

Mr. I-Will Tellem—Miss "Susie" Race-Around?

(Someone answers that Miss Race-Around has gone out to the home office, thence to her office, on to the reading room, and back by the cloak room searching for Aunt Lucy.)

Mr. I-Will Tellem—Mr. Pitcher Chalkman?

Mr. Chalkman—Present, but I would like very much to be excused to see Jack Jones pitch in the ball game at the Armory. I feel that my course could derive much help and benefit, Mr. President.

Mr. I-Will Tellem—Miss Singem Wright?

Miss Wright—Present, Mr. Rat Oppen Sishun, I feel that you should treat us right and as long as so many members are absent or otherwise engaged (with a glance at Miss Winkle and Miss Daring who were being severely scrutinized by Mr. Watchem) you would be wise to postpone the meeting.

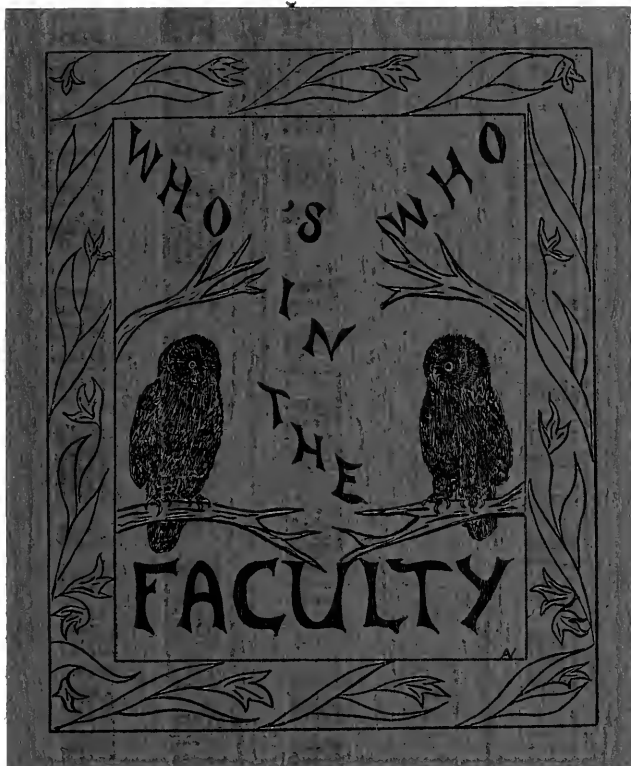

Mr. "Rat" Oppen Sishun—I am sorry but I shall have to enlist your co-operation for a few minutes. I have a clever scheme on foot which I wish to have presented to the board as soon as possible. If this is to be a Norman school for the training of teachers—why let's do away with all academic work, all classes, and give every girl the privilege of teaching the entire time she is in school. This would be very much easier on you teachers, and more practical from the girl's standpoint. I also suggest a lyceum course which shall run during the semester and that each teacher take turns at giving lectures, stunts, plays and vaudeville for the girls' benefit and enjoyment. Will you come back to-morrow night prepared to vote and announce the kind of course you will present?

Mr. I-Will Tellem—I've already decided to give my lecture on "Tight clothing."

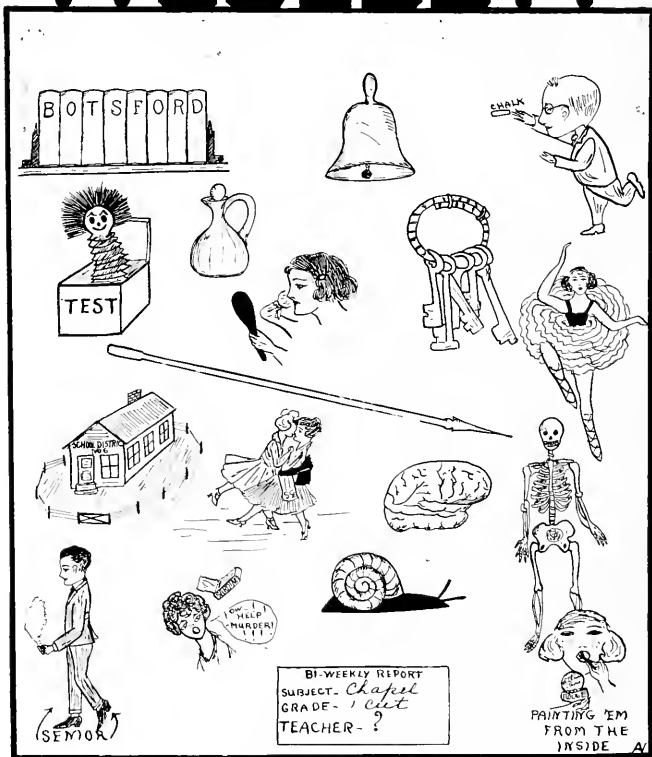

Miss "Susie" Race-Around. (Who has recently come in.) And mine's to be, "The Rural Problem."

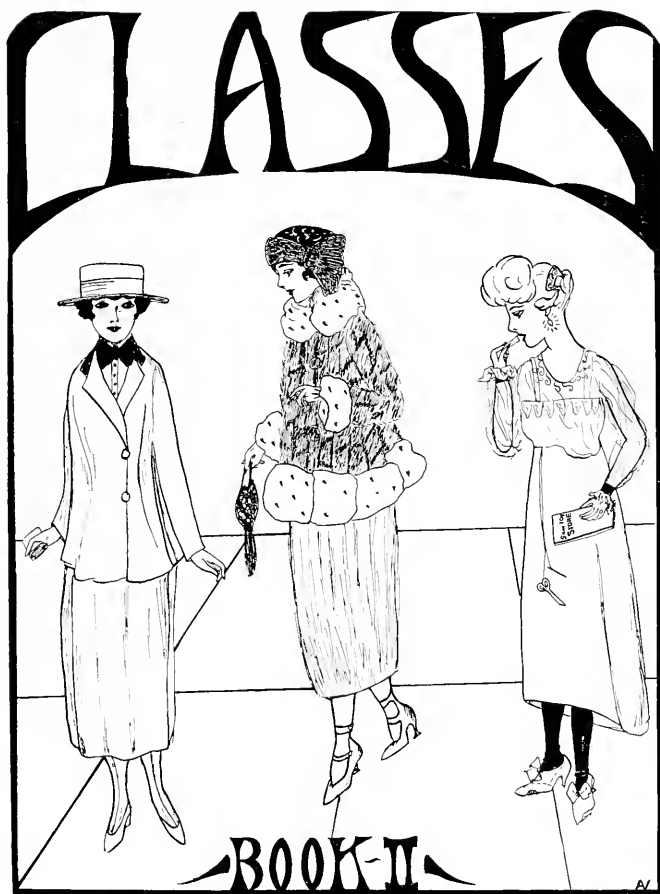

Mr. Merit Will Watchem—Mine will be a series of talks on "How to Get a Husband."

Mr. "Rat" Oppen Sishun—You are adjourned until to-morrow night at seven-thirty sharp.

"Idleness is an appendix to nobility."

This attractive, dainty, talkative girl is absolutely contented with a book of Kipling, a box of mallowmars and someone to adore.

"Well, by gum!"

"Happy am I, from care I'm free!

Why aren't they all contented like me?"

We envy the part of the world that will have Merle's unselfish and joyous spirit in the future. What would we have done without it in our part in the past?

"Now ain't that sumpin'!"

'20-'21; President Le Cercle Francais; El Circulo Espanol.

"So well to know her own, that what she wills to do or say seems wisest, virtuouslest, discretest, best."

Helen is a recognized leader with initiative and force. We might predict for her a brilliant, political career.

"Well, goodness."

HATTIE GRESHAM

W. C. A.

"I love tranquil solitude, and such society, as is quiet, wise and good."

Hattie is our class artist, but that isn't the only line along which she is talented. If you want to hear some good witty remarks, just have a talk with her.

"Well, what do you know about that."

EDITH HARRELL

"Isn't she the sweetest thing." Student Body.

A good all-round sport who is never too busy doing the big things to work faithfully upon "the whole sweet liltles that large life compound."

"Oh! my soul."

MARY STEPHENSON

Wakefield, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Gamma Theta; Athenian Literary Society; Assistant Editor-in-chief Rotunda '20-'21; Chairman Bible Study Committee Y. W. C. A.; K. I. L.

There's hardly much use to say anything about Mary because faculty and girls both know her for what she is, a fine girl, who always pulls A's and still has plenty of time to be a good old pal to everybody that needs her.

"So to speak."

HISTORY

"Have you seen Grace Beard?"

"What! Did Grace Beard really come back?"

"Where is she? How many of us does that make?"

"Eight, but there are nine of us. Edith is coming on the 12:45."

Nine of us! Isn't that wonderful! Just think, can you realize that we are III Professionals?"

The two speakers were strolling through the reception hall. As they reached the entrance door a scream of joy and frantic waving of hands caused them to turn around and rush to six hilarious girls waiting for them. Soon above the babel that ensued, one voice could be heard urging, "We have got to hurry. Edith's coming on the next train."

"Edith!" All spoke at once. "Oh, that will make nine of us. Come on everybody, let's go to meet her."

There was a mad dash out of the hall, and as eight fleeing backs disappeared, a spectator superfluously informed her companion, "They are the III Professionals. There are nine this year, the largest class that has yet come back for a degree."

This first day of school was the beginning of an unusual and varied history of an extraordinary class. Soon it became known not only for its size which was large in number if small in stature, but also for its activity and a curious mystery. Sometimes it was as great a mystery to solve the amount of work and play these invincible nine really accomplished as it was to discover the function of the red and black bows sometimes used as shoulder decorations. The activity of the class as a whole and as individuals was particularly varied during the last half of the III Professional year. Adventures reported to have happened to certain members of the class at the National Y. W. C. A. and other Conventions, have already been published.

September of 1920 found the faithful Nine, who had attained the status of IV Professionals, wiser, more serious and more dignified perhaps.

"The IV Professionals look awfully young," a new girl said in a surprised voice, as though she had expected to see maidens nearing forty or fifty. Henceforth the heart of the whole Nine has been every new girl's for the asking. With wisdom, dignity, and youth seemingly unimpaired, the IV Professionals returned again to their Alma Mater.

If either year could be definitely classified, the III Professional year might be said to have been one of varied activity, and IV Professional, one of special activity-service. A year of service they have striven to make this their last year, and if they have succeeded, it has been due to their preparation for it, and the service that they may have rendered has returned to repay them a hundred fold. It has been also a year of reckoning in terms of preparation, and thinking in terms of community, country, and world service.

Dear Alma Mater, this their fourth and last year under your protecting and guiding hand has been the happiest and yet the saddest of them all. In return for the wisdom, the happiness, and aspirations that you have given them, they offer you their loyalty, gratitude, and love.

Place—Teacherage at Nospot, Virginia.

SCENE I

(The living room of the teacherage. Maid straightening room. Enter Grace, just from school, with arms full of books and papers. Throws books on table and sighs deeply.)

—Oh! dear me, teaching, teaching, for ten long years. Nothing but Latin either. Sometimes I wish Cicero had never been born, and that Virgil had died in infancy. I thought I had a hard time at school but I'd give every cent of my salary, such as it is, to be back again with our old crowd. (Drops into a chair, leans head upon table wearily.) (Enter Merle with school books, lays books on table and speaks to Grace.)

Say Grace! why so weary this afternoon? Didn't we hear from any more of the girls?

Grace—I've been too tired to even think about it. Lucy, were there any. (Lucy hands over three letters to Merle.)

Merle—Oh! Grace look, here are three letters, and I believe they're the very ones we want. (Both begin opening letters hurriedly.)

Grace—These are from Lib and Mary, and they're coming. Oh joy!

Merle—And this is from Katherine. She is coming too. Now we've heard from all but Harriet. We might have known she'd be the last.

Grace—Will you please listen to this? Lib my old roomie is married, and she didn't even say to whom. Can you beat that?

Merle—Well, my love! Katherine says she and Joe were married recently, and she didn't even say which Joe. (Maid enters with a special delivery letter.)

Maid—A special for Miss Grace. (Grace signs for the letter, then tears it open hurriedly and reads.) (Maid exits.)

Grace—Oh! what joy, this is from Harriet, and she is really coming; that is, if she doesn't miss her train. Gee! I feel ten years younger right now. Lets go and begin getting ready for their coming. (Both throw their arms around each other and skip out.)

CURTAIN

SCENE II

Time—Night—two days later.

(Room same as scene one. Enter all the girls dressed in street attire; each carrying a package containing her favorite food. Girls all talk to each other as they enter.)

Grace—Listen everybody, let's sit on the floor, and talk and eat just as we used to do at old S. N. S. This is the first time I've felt that I could be so undignified in years. And will you please look, Lib has her Campbell soup just like we used to have at school. (Girls get pillows and sit on floor.)

Harriet—Please let's tell what we've been doing since we left school all over again. Everybody as has been talking so fast that I can't get it all straight. I've got Lib's Chinese Missionary all married to Katherine. Let's begin and go around the circle, and tell about our work, before we begin talking about S. N. S., for if we ever get started on school, we'll never stop. Lib, you begin, and tell us what you've done.

Lib—I'm busy fixing the soup. Why do I have to be first? Well, here goes. I finished my training as a nurse in 1925, and then went to China. In one year's time I fell flat for my dear Hezekiah and was married, and what's more I haven't stopped falling yet. Nothing could have brought me away from him but you all. For four years we've been working together in China, and have had some of the most thrilling experiences you ever heard. I'm thinking of writing a book on our work. We are here on a year's furlough. So Grace, your letter came at exactly the right time, and it did seem so funny to get a letter addressed to Miss Elizabeth McClung, Lexington, Va. It made me feel years younger. Oh! I'm out of breath now. Mary it's your time next.

MARY—All of you know what ideas I had about so many rules when I was at S. N. S. So for five years I worked to establish this school I've been telling you all about since I came. We have a school with few restrictions. Why, my girls go down town when they wish, talk to boys, have engagements, meet trains and do most anything they wish. It just works fine as I always said it would. They are not near crazy about these things since they haven't so many restrictions. Helen can tell you how well it works, for she has visited us.

EDITH—Helen, you tell us more about your lectures. I guess we can take Mary's own word about her college.

HELEN—You all don't want to hear anymore about those lectures, do you? I will tell you why I began this work. I taught for several years in different girls' colleges, and the girls were all so frivolous. Their only aim in life was to get married. So I worked out this series of lectures in which I try to inspire girls to aspire to something higher in life than just getting married. I am just traveling around to the different colleges and I've really helped a number of girls to change their ideas. Of course, I don't want to keep everybody from getting married just because I didn't, but I do want to save girls from having this idea of "anybody, Lord, just so it's a man."

Harriet, now you read one of your poems. I always knew you'd be a poet. (During these talks, girls continue to eat and to pass things around, while some make remarks on what the others tell.)

HARRIET—I just haven't had time to write all the poems I've had the inspiration for, but I will read one I wrote coming up on the train as I viewed the wonderful scenery from the window. (Reads a poem written in free verse which none understand, but all applaud heartily.)

By the way, Hattie, I must ask you while I think of it. Someone by the name of Gresham has published a new theory on evolution, and I wondered if it could be a relative of yours.

HATTIE—(Rather embarrassed) Well, now, Harriet, I suppose it's my book you're talking about. I just couldn't exactly agree with any of those theories of evolution. I studied under Mr. Brettnall so I've worked out one of my own. (Girls all clap.)

KATHERINE—Hattie, we always did know you'd do something like that.

HATTIE—Now Katherine, we'd like to hear more about that wonderful husband of yours.

GIRLS—Yes, Katherine, please talk about him some more, we've been so anxious to know who was the lucky Joe.

KATHERINE—Oh! pshaw, there's nothing much to tell, except that I do want you all to know my beloved Joe is not one of the three I knew when I was at school. We first met in South America when I was teaching down there. Married life doesn't interest you at all. Make Edith tell her mountain experiences. I saw from some paper a few years ago that Edith was one of the leading mountain workers of Virginia.

EDITH—I did work with the mountain people until two years ago. I'll tell some of my experiences later. I have recently finished my course at the missionary training school and hope to leave for India in about six months. Let's talk about old S. N. S. now. Who has news from there?

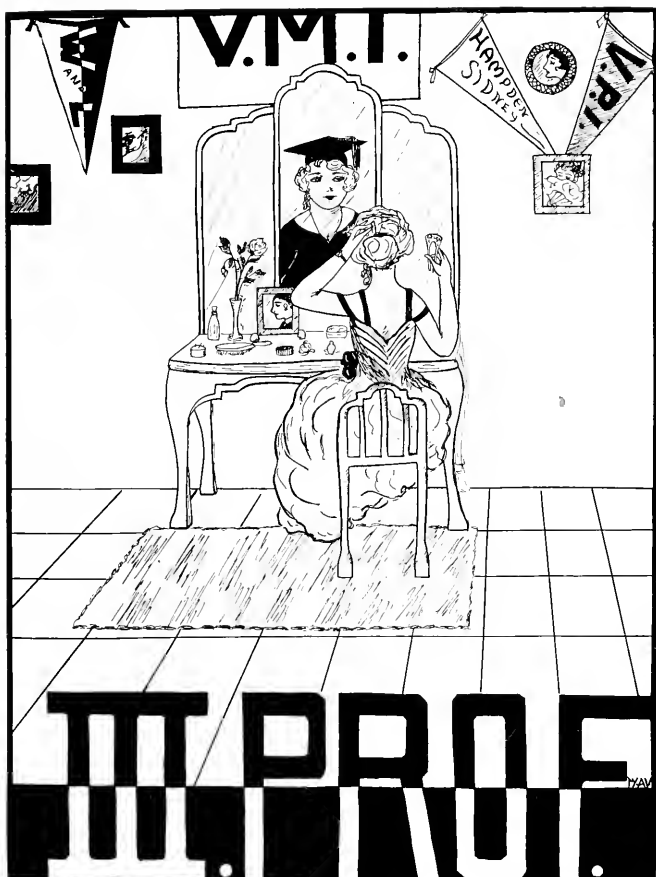

HELEN—I was there a few months ago to give my lectures, and everything has changed so that I hardly knew the place. The student building is perfectly wonderful. Miss Coulling is President now, and Miss Jennie Tabb Vice-President, and Mary Finch is head matron. Miss Mary White is in Florida living a life of peace and happiness. Everybody was excited over Dr. Jarman's campaign for Governor of Virginia. Of course, he'll be elected. I missed Mr. Grainger so much. He's become President of that College in Massachusetts that he used to talk about so much. Oh! I just wish we could all go back together once more.

GRACE—Merle, there's no reason on earth why we can't take them all over there. We can get aeroplanes from the boys here in town and go tomorrow.

MERLE—Of course, we can and we'll do it too. Come let's go to bed so we can rest and be able to enjoy the trip to the fullest extent. You know we old folks need lots of rest. (Laughs.) (All go out still talking about S. N. S.)

Curtain.

SARA REBECCA ANDREWS

Evington, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society, Jefferson Debating Society, Rural Club; Y. W. C. A.

"I'm not afraid of work; I can lie right down beside it and go to sleep."

Sara is one of the fortunate few who can make good grades without laborious study. You can't see her curly locks here but she often wears them. She is very fond of "Locks" especially the kind which may be found at White's Drug Store.

IRENE ANDERSON

"Yet do I fear they nature; it is too full of the milk of human kindness."

Irene is always happy, whatever the time or the weather. She takes a great delight in her work and is happiest while doing it. We are sure she will be a successful teacher and we wish her happiness.

NINA BELLE ARMBRISTER

Max Meadows, Virginia

Y. W. C. A., Athletic Association, Jefferson Debating Society.

Just watch her, always smiling her way thru, never letting worry interfere with her ambitions. Nina "Bobs" around so fast you never know where she is.

JANE BACON

Lexington, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society; Morning Watch Committee, Y. W. C. A.; Treasurer I. K. U.; Student Mission Band, Athletic Association.

Jane is serious and determined, always lending a helping hand. Appreciating her noble qualities, we predict for this student volunteer a life of valuable service in her chosen work.

BURDETT BAGLEY

Kenbridge, Virginia

Sigma Sigma Sigma; Pi Alpha; Glee Club; Cotillion Club; D. I. R. K.; Cunningham Literary Society; Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.; Secretary-Treasurer Lunenburg Club; U-Et-R.

"Gentle in mien, words and temper."

Oh, how we envy Burdette her sweet, lovable disposition! Her frank, unborrowed wit which she springs on us at the unexpected times makes her dear to our fun loving hearts.

MARIE BALDWIN

Pamplin, Virginia

Chairman Social Committee Y. W. C. A. '19-'20; Chairman Hiking Committee; Glee Club; Cunningham Literary Society; Athletic Association.

*We fear this little girl is a flirt,
For in all of the arts she is quite expert,
Teaching we think will not interest her long,
May her life be one happy song.*

SETHELLE BARCLIFF

Norfolk, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Norfolk Club; Rural Club.

Do you want to know anything? If you do, ask Sethelle for she can answer any question on earth. Oh! it doesn't matter that no one knows what she is talking about for she gets there just the same. Here's success to you, Sethelle!

GRACE BARGAMIN

Sigma Sigma Sigma; Pi Alpha; D. I. R. K.; U-Et-R; Treasurer Cunningham Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Portsmouth Club '19-'20.

"Of manner gentle, of affections mild."

When Grace is your friend once, she is forever. Nor do we find her lacking in steadfastness, loyalty, and truth in her school work.

SALLIE BARKSDALE

Roanoke, Virginia

Sigma Sigma Sigma; Mu Omega, D. I. R. K.; Athletic Association, N. O. T.; Publicity Committee Y. W. C. A.; Pan-Hellenic Representative '19-'20; Roanoke Club.

"A mind rejoicing in the light."

Sallie's originality and ability are astounding, but oh! how she flirts with 'the thief of time.' Clever, witty, and attractive—what! "Moore" could she wish?

MARY CLARK BOCOCK

Culpeper, Virginia

Social Service Committee Y. W. C. A.; Athenian Literary Society, Critic '20-'21; Athletic Association; Secretary and Treasurer Server's Tennis Club '21; Le Circle Français; Hiking Club; Rural Club.

"If'ell, I know her of easy temper, naturally good and faithful to her work."

Her high ideals, her true sense of justice, and unfailing good nature have won a place in the hearts of us all.

If you want someone with whom to go hiking, call for Mary; she is a dandy companion.

SUSIE BOOKER

Tower Hill, Virginia

Business Manager "The Virginian;" Reporter Pierian Literary Society; Publicity Committee; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association.

Susie is the sort of girl who can do anything and do it well. Perseverance and earnestness characterize her business ability which is splendidly shown in her management of our annual.

VIRGINIA BOULDIN

Roanoke, Virginia

D. I. R. K.; Roanoke Club; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association.

"Persuasive speech and more persuasive smile."

Why should she become a teacher,
To pour instruction o'er the minds,
When she is so charming in every feature,
That she could enslave "—" and all mankind?

LOUISE BREWER

Bristol, Virginia

Secretary Student Government; President Rural Club; Vice President Cunningham Literary Society '19-'20; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Glee Club; Dramatic Club.

"I Daughter of the Gods"

Divinely tall and most divinely fair."

Louise has a bewitching smile, which has won for her a host of friends. As the "Hero" of the Dramatic Club plays, she has enslaved all of our hearts.

KATHLEEN BRISTOW

Richmond, Virginia

Argus Literary Society; Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.

"Good at fight, but better at play."

"Kat's" lovely disposition, charming personality, and brilliancy of wit are her marked characteristics. Her hobby is telling jokes—thus cheering always her class-mates.

Altho "Kat" pretends she does not care for boys, she is very "Frank" in expressing her fondness for those that have "Beards."

SUE BROWN

Martinsville, Virginia

Sigma Sigma Sigma; Mu Omega; W. A. N. K.; Cunningham Literary Society; Jefferson Debating Society; Ellen Richard's Club; Student Mission Band; Senior Tennis Club.

"I've made it a practice to put all my troubles in the bottom of my heart and sit on the lid and smile."

Nothing worries Sue. Her happy nature is so contagious that she is sent for every time a fit of the "blues" is discovered.

ANNE BULLOCK

Farmville, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.

"A merry heart goes with you all day long."

Anne is always ready to go down town with a jolly companion or two to have a good time. Nevertheless we see another, a true Anne in the Miss Bullock at the Training School. In our dreams we see her a successful fourth grade teacher in Texas. Success to you Anne.

LELIA PEEBLES BURROW

Disputanta, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; P. G. Club; Athletic Association; Athenian Literary Society.

*"Straight thinking,
Hard work,
Fair play,
Giving service."*

This is just Lelia all over, for she is always ready to help someone out of a difficulty, especially liking to solve Arithmetic problems.

MARION CAMPER
Orange, Virginia

Mandolin and Guitar Club; President Orange Club; Athletic Association; Hiking Club; Server's Tennis Club; Religious Committee Y. W. C. A.; Athenian Literary Society.

Marian, tho quiet and reserved, has not failed to win the hearts of her classmates. The bright, laughing side of her character marks her as a true Normal School girl.

ELLEN CARLSON
Claremont, Virginia

Social Service Committee Y. W. C. A.; Jefferson Debating Society; Athletic Association.

"Sincere and true, I strive in all my best to do."

This conscientious little Swede reflects brilliancy in more ways than in her hair. She is also one of our songsters and her sweet notes must have made a very great impression upon someone, for she is very diligent in her pursuit of Domestic Science.

EDITH CARR
Asheville, North Carolina

Sigma Sigma Sigma; Mu Omega; Delta; U-Et-R; Argus Literary Society; Campus League Committee; Y. W. C. A.; Cotillion Club.

"She hath a merry heart."

Edith is the happiest person in the world when she is happy. Best of all she reflects this happiness on others, too. There is not another like her. She is a mixture of fun, humor, and common sense.

GRACE CARWILE
Madisonville, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Cunningham Literary Society;
Appomattox Club.

Grace does not take life too hard, but lives a placid, happy existence. Although she does good work, her studies do not bother her very much. We all think Grace a bright, happy girl.

MARY EILEEN CHAMBERS
Dinwiddie, Virginia

Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.; Ruffner Debating Society; Dinwiddie Club.

"Still achieving, still pursuing."

Aileen takes great delight in the Training School work and has special pride in its "Halls." She is also very literary and enjoys reading all classical works, especially those of Emerson.

LUCILLE CHAPPELL
Meherrin, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Recording Secretary Pierian Literary Society; Publicity Committee '19-'20; World Fellowship Committee '20-'21. Y. W. C. A.; Hiking Club.

"Good nature, like a sunny day, sheds brightness on all things."

This bright little bobbed haired maid has certainly made a name for herself at S. N. S.

We like to hear Lucille talk in her slow emphatic way. In fact, we like almost everything about Lucille.

MYRTLE CHAPPELL

Meherrin, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Pierian Literary Society; Publicity Committee, '19-'20; World Fellowship Committee '20-'21; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Hiking Club.

*"With a jest on her tongue and a smile on her lips,
She's bubbling with fun to her finger tips."*

This is only too true of Myrtle, but this does not mean that her "good times" interfere with her class work for there she measures up to the highest.

LOIS CLAUD

Drewryville, Virginia

Country Life Committee '20; Corresponding Secretary Pierian Literary Society '19; Y. W. C. A.

"Her manner quiet and refined."

Lois is one of our prettiest girls. Truly her charm does not lie in her sweet face alone. She is bright, cheerful, and winning in manner.

FLORA CLINGENPEEL

Martinsville, Virginia

Athletic Association; Publicity Committee Y. W. C. A.; Jefferson Debating Society; Pierian Literary Society.

"To know her is to love her."

What more can be said? Anything else would be superfluous, as her many friends would tell you.

ELIZA CLOPTON
Washington, Virginia

Student Government Committee '17-'18; Treasurer Fourth Year Class; Ellen Richard's Club; Social Committee, '17-'18, Alumnae Committee '18-'19, Y. W. C. A.; Spree Club; W. A. N. K. Athletic Association; U-Et-R.

*"She is pretty to walk with,
She is witty to talk with,
And pleasant to think upon."*

This truly applies to "Liza." We may also say that Liza is one of those girls who has found the Training School a "joy" rather than a "sorrow."

JOHNNIE BLANCHE CONWELL
Capron, Virginia

Vice-President Southampton Club '20-'21; Reporter Athenian Literary Society '20; Membership Committee Y. W. C. A.; Senior Basketball Team; Junior Base-ball Team; Athletic Association.

*"She stammers; oh what grace in lisping lies,
If she says nothing, to be sure she's wise."*

"Johnnie's" one ambition is to be fifth grade supervisor. We are afraid "something" will come in between to prevent this, but we know she will do well, no matter what she does. Blanche works when she works and plays when she plays. Our best wishes go with her everywhere.

MARTHA KATHERINE CRALLE
Blackstone, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Vice-President Rural Club.

"Katherine has a most attractive air and just the prettiest curly hair."

If you should see her walking thru the halls you would probably take a second look. She is a dainty creature, very quiet, and unassuming with a clear sweet voice. As a student she excels, and her sweet ways are a source of great pleasure to her friends.

ELIZABETH CRENSHAW

Cambria, Virginia

Jefferson Debating Society; Rural Club; Y. W. C. A.; Mandolin and Guitar Club; Athletic Association.

"———A level head with which you will always find her."

Elizabeth shudders when she thinks what a deplorable condition this world would be in, if she had been born on the planet Mars, or Neptune, instead of on our earth; and you are right Elizabeth we could not have done without you.

CLARA CROCKER

Ivor, Virginia

Rural Club; Y. W. C. A.; Jefferson Debating Society.

Clara is our little "sweet sixteen" year old Senior. Studious and dependable—well, I should say, for these characterize her so well. We might add that Clara isn't so much the "crushy" kind but you'll notice that she always manages to be as near as possible to Miss Stubbs or Miss Bierbarrow.

RUTH M. CUTTS

Chase City, Virginia

Y. W. C. A. Ruffner Debating Society. Athenian Literary Society; Y. W. A.

"Look out for the unexpected."

Watch Ruth and you will see and hear many unexpected things. Not many know her because she is not one who likes to attract attention, but to pursue her thoughtful course quietly. She does fine work in an inconspicuous way.

ELINOR ROY DAMERON

Lynchburg, Virginia

Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.; Glee Club; Lynchburg Club.

You may think Elinor is afraid of boys from her quiet way, but just mention Boston and watch her blush.

She may not appear to be so very studious, but Elinor surely will get there in the long run, for she will work at anything she has to do.

PATTY LEE DARDEN

Franklin, Virginia

Delta Sigma Chi; Pi Alpha; D. I. R. K.; Social Service Committee Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; President Southampton Club '19; Student Government Committee Dramatic Club; Assistant Business Manager Focus.

"Sweet promptings unto kindest deeds,

Were in her very look,

One reads her mind as one who reads,

A pure and delightful book."

Patty Lee is a good student, lovable teacher, and a handsome man in dramatics. She has a big generous "Hart" but doesn't care so much for men, which is unfortunate for them.

MARY DOBYNS DERIEUX

Rappahannock, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Assistant Literary Editor of "The Virginian"; Secretary Pierian Literary Society; Bible Study Committee '20-'21, World Fellowship Committee '19-'20, Y. W. C. A.; Rural Club; Le Cercle Francais; Athletic Association; President Y. W. A. Z. T.

"How far that little candle throws its light,"

She may not be termed an "intellectual" in spite of her unusual ability, for she delights in school girl pranks and pleasures. Dancing is her "long suit."

"On with the dance, let joy be unconfined."

LOUISE DOYLE
McKenney, Virginia.

Glee Club; Censor Cunningham Literary Society '20; Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A., Membership and Music Committees; D. I. R. K.; Rural Club; President Dinwiddie Club.

"If work don't bother me, and I don't bother work."

This is certainly true about Louise, but somehow she has managed to come out on top, especially in the Glee Club. The class of '21 wishes her all success, whether she may go back to "Mac" Kenney or to "Endia."

VIRGINIA SMITH DUGGER
Meredithville, Virginia

Cunningham Literary Society; Dramatic Club; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association.

"Not too sober, not too gay, but a good, true girl in every way."

No one loves to loaf better than Virgie, but when it comes to a show down, she has plenty of "stick-to-it-iveness." Generous, warm hearted, and jolly is she, playing pranks and putting "em over on us." She has made lasting friendships in S. N. S. with her ready smile and winning ways.

MARY EASLY
Chatham, Virginia

Ellen Richard's Club; Y. W. C. A.; Pittsylvania Club.

"Must I work? Oh! What a waste of time."

Mary is very quiet and reserved, but once you know her, you find a heart of pure gold. Let me tell you a secret about Mary, she is going to get into a "Scrap" and get "Hurt."

ANNIE EVANS

Lovington, Virginia

Rural Club; Y. W. C. A.; Y. W. A.

"This little maid is very small,

But she has a friend who is very tall,

The Rural Problem she doth know,

And from her mind the answers flow (?)

All are fond of her smiling face,

She ever wears with patient grace,

She is careful to watch all "Rules"

But one of these does not apply to schools.

MADELINE FORESTAL

City Point, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; I. K. U.
Ruffner Debating Society; Glee Club; Prince
George County Club.

"So ready to be pleasant, and so kind,"

Madeline is indeed pleasant and kind. She is always the merry soul, flitting about here and there and ever ready to aid one. We have discovered a treasure in our friend from Wisconsin."

ANNA FOSTER

Appomattox, Virginia

Appomattox Club; Ellen Richard's Club; Y.
W. C. A.

"Her air, her manner, all who saw admired;

Courteous though coy, and gentle though retired."

If being gentle and sympathetic will aid one in being a teacher, Anna will surely have success. She is prim, little, old-fashioned, lady-like, as our great grandmothers were; but what is it that the wise modern sage says, "An old fashioned girl in these days is a rare gem!"

IRENE FOWLKES

Chatham, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Jefferson Debating Society; Athletic Association; Le Cercle Francais I. O. U.; Pittsylvania Club.

"Mischief thou art afoot."

Your first impression of Irene is that she is rather quiet and reserved. You soon find, however, that she is full of irrepressible fun and badness. She is a good old sport and a true friend.

LUCILLE FOX

Dettoville, Virginia

Athenian Literary Society; Vice President Ruffner Debating Society; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association.

"He who plants kindness, gathers love."

Quiet, industrious, and loved by everyone for her good qualities, this is Lucille. You hardly know she is present until a question is asked, but then, as usual, the old saying holds good: "Still water runs deep."

MARGARET STRANGE FRENCH

Portsmouth, Virginia

Publicity Committee of Y. W. C. A.; W. A. N. K.; Portsmouth Club; Athletic Association.

To know Margaret is indeed a great privilege. She is quiet and reserved, perhaps a little hard to know yet she has the interest of everybody at heart, and scatters happiness among all with whom she comes in contact.

ELIZABETH GANNAWAY

Draper, Virginia

Gamma Theta, Pi Alpha; Social Service Committee Y. W. C. A.; Ellen Richard's Club; Epsilon Pi Theta; Jefferson Debating Society. "Bolshevik."

"Her voice was ever soft, gentle, and low, an excellent thing in a woman."

This is why "Beth" has won so many friends at S. N. S. Her sunny disposition has found its way into the hearts of us all.

MARY ELIZABETH GARNER

Garysburg, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association.

Wherever you see this maiden, she is busy; but nevertheless she is a good sport, and has a good time. We know she is unselfish for have we not shared in many a box of "eats?" Mary seems to like royalty for nothing short of a "King" will satisfy her.

PATTIE GARRETT

Cartersville, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Chairman World Fellowship Committee Y. W. C. A.; Vice-President Glee Club; Athletic Association; Delta; Student Government Committee; Secretary Student Mission Band; Guitar and Mandolin Club; President Cunningham Literary Society.

*"Always happy as she sings,
As unto our hearts much joy, she brings,
Y' H' worker and teacher too,
Without her, what will S. N. S. do?"*

ELLA GATES
Rice, Virginia

Glee Club; Athenian Literary Society; Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.; Ellen Richard's Club.

If you want a good friend, choose Ella. She is one of the generous, sympathetic and good-natured kind. She doesn't have one friend today and another tomorrow. Judging from her sweet and gentle ways, we do not predict for her a long career as a "school ma'am."

VIRGINIA ELDRED GIBBS
Lawrenceville, Virginia

Vice-President Athletic Association '20-'21; Pierian Literary Society; Dramatic Club; Glee Club; Y. W. C. A.; Captain Junior Base-ball Team '19-'20; Y. W. C. A.

"I chatter, chatter as I go."

Virginia studies when she feels like it, is always ready for a good time and is right there on the spot to help a pal. She's the peppiest of peppy girls—in fact one of the best sports in S. N. S.

DAPHNE GILLIAM
Farmville, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society; Glee Club; Social Service Committee Y. W. C. A.; Chairman El Circulo Espanol; Captain Basket-Ball Team '17-'19; Athletic Association.

"Happy am I from care I'm free.

If hy aren't they all contented like me?"

Daphne is one of those girls who loves to argue with her teacher and to good advantage. Her frankness, kindness, and jolly good nature will ever be remembered by us all.

JUSTINE GIBSON

Clover, Virginia

Rural Club; Hiking Club; Athletic Association; President Halifax Club; Y. W. C. A.; Secretary of Argus Literary Society; Jefferson Society '18; Y. W. A.

*"They say that she, too, is quiet and shy,
But gee, if you knew her, that yarn you'd deny;
She can make you laugh 'till you nearly cry."*

ETHEL GLENN

Prospect, Virginia

Publicity Committee Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Ellen Richards Club; Rural Club

*"This little maid with eyes of blue,
Nothing seems to ail her,
Has a heart that's ever true,
Especially to her Taylor"*

Ethel with her happy smile and pleasing ways is a charming companion, a true friend and a good sport.

AUDREY GLENN

Prospect, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Ellen Richards Club.

"Music hath its charms."

Indeed this is true of Audrey for playing the piano is one of her favorite pastimes. Laziness, "nicety", and fun all characterize this jolly companion.

MAUDE GLENN

Prospect, Virginia

World Fellowship Committee; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Cunningham Literary Society; Ellen Richard's Club; Hiking Club; Rural Club.

Student, friend, jolly old pal—Maude is all these combined. She has been blessed with a head full of knowledge, a heart full o' cheer and many warm friends. May her pot of gold at the rainbow's end be bottomless.

REVA WILLIS GRAVES

"Billy"

Lynchburg, Virginia

B. I. R. D. S.; Orchestra '19-'21; Librarian '19-'20; Hiking Club; Mandolin and Guitar Club; Baseball Team; Campus League '20-'21; Athenian Literary Society '19-'20; President Athenian Literary Society '20-'21; Religious Committee Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Lynchburg Club.

"Neither too careless, nor too sad,

Nor too studious, nor too glad."

Reva is a model girl, extreme in no characteristics, and always ready to do her part, whether it be in class work, orchestra practice, or just having a good time. Ask "Mary" and she will tell you Reva's future hopes.

LOU GREGORY

Ontario, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Lunenburg Club; Jefferson Debating Society; Cunningham Literary Society.

"Thy modesty is a candle to thy merit."

There is more truth than poetry in the above. Lou is a girl to be loved. Full of fun and high spirited, that's Lou. Though she has some regard for the boys, she has a far greater love, it seems, for the verdant campus of S. N. S.

VIOLET GRIFFIN

Windsor, Virginia

Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.; Nansmond Club; Isle of Wight Club '20; Hiking Club.

Violet is good natured, and we all like her. She has two very excellent qualities, determination and grit, by which we are sure she will gain success.

JANE SUMMERFIELD HADDON

Dinwiddie, Virginia

Rural Club; Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.; Dinwiddie Club.

"Perseverence and honesty are her keynotes."

Girls, we have in mind a girl of sociability, adaptability, affability, and capability. Jane we predict success for you.

MILDRED LEE HALL

Norfolk, Virginia

D. I. R. K.; Y. W. C. A.; Norfolk Club.
"To see her one would think her shy,

But she really does not deny.

That she is interested in F. P. I."

Let me tell you V. P. I. isn't the only one. Why there's one at Norfolk, one at Suffolk—but don't let's tell them all. They don't worry Mildred, for she is a hard worker yet full of fun when she wants to be.

MARY SUE HAMMOND
Meredithville, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.;
Athletic Association.

"In silence hath my heart grown large."

You'd have to see her to know that she is around, but if you look you'd probably find some evidence of her efforts to help someone. Always conscientious, never failing in her duty, you'll certainly love her, if she will allow you to take a "peep" at her real self.

KATHERINE HANCOCK
Scottsville, Virginia

Athenian Literary Society; Morning Watch Committee Y. W. C. A.; Y Store Committee; Student Mission Band; Ellen Richard's Club; Athletic Association; I. K. U.

Katherine is a gay, happy girl, who enjoys life thoroughly. She takes great delight in her work, and is never happier than when she is teaching the tots in the Kindergarten. We feel sure her life's work will be a great success.

LEONA ADELAIDE HARGRAVE
"Rooster"

Dinwiddie, Virginia

Captain Junior Basket Ball Team; Ways and Means Committee '19-'20; Y. W. C. A.; Country Life Committee '20-'21; Rural Club; Dinwiddie Club; Athletic Association; Server's Tennis Club.

"Fine sense is not half so useful as common sense."

Addie is a bright, jolly, friendly girl and one of our stars in basket ball. In fact she is a keen participant in all athletics, and is equally as good in her studies, or has all the teachers bluffed.

CECIL SCOTT HARGRAVE

Dinwiddie, Virginia

Athletic Association Cabinet; Dinwiddie Club; Server's Tennis Club; Y. W. C. A.

"Hummy" is practical, and dependable; She knows what she wants and goes after it without fuss or fluster, and flies around as busy as a bee from morn 'til night. If you need a friend go to "Hummy". And when it comes to tennis—well, if you want to lose a set just play with her.

CAROLYN HARRELL

Newport News, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Student Committee; I. K. U.; Secretary Senior Class; Corresponding Secretary Cunningham Literary Society; Rufner Debating Society; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association.

*"She that was ever fair and never proud,
Had tongue at will and yet was never loud."*

Carolyn is one of those girls who most people consider dignified, but consider that vast store of knowledge she possesses. Her ability in making lesson plans, a most unusual gift as all of us know, has been favorably recognized by the faculty.

PAULINE HAWKS

Church Road, Virginia

Rufner Debating Society '19-'21; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Dinwiddie Club.

Pauline is quiet and unassuming but as the saying goes "Still waters run deep", so let us not be surprised to hear some day that she has won world wide fame.

OTEY BROOKE HELM

Roanoke, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Corresponding Secretary Pierian Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Mission Band; Roanoke Club; Senior Representative Student Committee; Rural Club; Le Cercle Francais.

*"Small in stature, yet keen in mind,
Always endeavoring to make her work sublime."*

Shy, innocent and sweet are words that best describe Otey. At present it is hard to say whether she will make her future home in the quiet peaceful country, or whether she will teach Mary and "John" les affaires d'amour.

MAMIE HOLLAND

Suffolk, Virginia

Cunningham Literary Society; Athletic Association; Religious Committee '20-'21; Y. W. C. A.; Nansemond Club; Delta; Rural Club; La Cercle Francais; Z. T.

"She that hath knowledge spareth her words."

Every day she trips along,
In the same old easy way;
Never worrying, singing a song,
For says she "Worrying does not pay."
And who does not love Mamie?

ERMA CHRISTINE HORTON

Whaleyville, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Treasurer Nansemond Club '20-'21.

*"Then she would talk—Ye gods—
How she would talk!"*

Erma is one of the girls from Tidewater, Virginia, which fact you can easily detect by the way she gazes with admiration at the "Ponds". In spite of the fact that she seems always occupied with lesson plans, she does not fail to get fun out of life.

LUCY HOWELL

Courtland, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Rural Club; Southampton Club.

"My heart's content when I'm in mischief"

Have you ever seen Lucy? No? If you lived on dining room hall you at least would have heard her. Always full of "pep" and ready to play a joke—that's Lucy.

SARAH HUGHES

Ashland, Virginia

Sigma Sigma Sigma; Mu Omega; D. I. R. K.; Athenian Literary Society; Leader Cotillion Club; Y. W. C. A. Social Service Committee '20-'21; Ellen Richard's Club; Athletic Association; I. K. U.

"The brightness of her cheeks would shame those stars,

*As day-light doth a lamp; her eye in Heaven,
Would through the airy region stream so bright,
That birds would sing, and think it were not night.*

That's Sarah, bright-eyed, rosy cheeked, laughing Sarah who wins the affections of all, and still knows when to be dignified.

CLIFFORD HUTCHESON

Boydton, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Secretary and Treasurer Rural Club; Hiking Club; Athletic Association.

A merry laugh, with seldom a frown,

Her happy laugh makes joy abound;

To every heart she brings good cheer,

We shall surely miss you, Clifford, dear.

LUCY IRVING

Farmville, Virginia

Rural Club; Y. W. C. A.

*"There was a little girl,
And she had a little curl—"*

We can't finish this out for Lucy because she is one of our loveliest girls although she is the baby of our class. She is planning to teach, but will she?

HELEN AMANDA JARMAN

Elkton, Virginia

Gamma Theta; Mu Omega; D. I. R. K.; Athenian Literary Society; I. K. U.; Asst. Business Manager Rotunda; Dramatic Club; Glee Club; Owl's; Cotillion Club; Student Government Committee '20-'21; Membership Committee, Y. W. C. A.; Promotion Committee.

Independent? Well, I should say, and yet this trait has not hindered her from becoming a born leader. Helen has proved that she is capable and efficient in her work and in her dealings with girls. She has many friends and admirers among both faculty and students.

ELLA JINKINS

Ashland, Virginia

Glee Club; Censor Pierian Literary Society spring '20; Recording Secretary fall '20; Critic Ruffner Debating Society '20; Treasurer Y. W. C. A. '20-'21; Athletic Association; Junior Basket Ball Team '19-'20; Ellen Richard's Club.

*"She hath always a cheerful face,
An excellent thing in this world."*

Ella comes to S. N. S.

She says to be a teacher,

But we know she's only bluffing,

For her ideal is a preacher.

DORA JETT

South Boston, Virginia

Gamma Theta; Mu Omega; W. A. N. K.; Glee Club; Censor Athenian Literary Society, '19-'20; Athletic Association; Membership Committee Y. W. C. A.; Vice-President Halifax Club; F. L. D.; U-ET-R.

"Now who could be neater, or brighter, or sweeter,

Or who hum a song so delightfully low."

Who could help loving Dora, with her irresistible charm. If you have a heart which you want to put in safe keeping, give it to Dora. She is capable of holding many and breaking none.

EARLINE JOHNSON

Columbus, Georgia

Cunningham Literary Society; Ellen Richard's Club; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; President Non-in-Va; Tennis Club.

"It is a friendly heart that has plenty of friends."

This little "Georgia Maid" has won the hearts of many classmates and teachers. We predict for her a bright future.

IOLA VIRGILIA JOHNSON

Portsmouth, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Editor-in-chief "Virginian"; Student Government Committee, '20-'21; Treasurer of Argus Literary Society, '20; Delta; Religious Work Committee Y. W. C. A.; Promotion Committee; Student Standards Committee; Chairman Entertainment Committee; Athletic Association; Junior Basket Ball Team Sub.; Portsmouth Club; Z. T.

"Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some Have greatness thrust upon them."

"Little Willie" measures up to all three of these standards. She was truly born great of heart and spirit, she has achieved for herself greatness through scholarship and service, and has had greatness thrust upon her for her true worth.

JULIA JONES
Sheppards, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society; Ellen Richard's Club; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association.
"Black eyes with a wondrous witching charm."

So strange how some girls will make so many acquaintances in town. Is it because of her bright eyes or her lengthy experience at S. N. S. that Julia is so well acquainted with the "Bankers"?

MINOR JONES
Clifton Forge, Virginia

Sigma Sigma Sigma; W. A. N. K.; Argus Literary Society; Ruffner Debating Society; Student Committee '18-'19, '20-'21; Chairman World Fellowship Committee; Y. W. C. A.; Ellen Richard's Club; Athletic Association; Student Standard Committee, '20-'21; U-ET-R.

"She has the essential attributes of a lady-high veracity, delicate honor in all her dealings, deference to others, and refined personal habits"

She delights in doing little thoughtful things for others and her sympathetic interest one always feels and remembers. If Minor has a failing it must be her deceptive demeanor.

RUTH JONES
Tazewell, Virginia

Secretary Pi Kappa Omega '20-'21; Treasurer Pi Alpha '20-'21; Cunningham Literary Society; Recorder Point System '20-'21; Bible Study Committee; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; W. A. N. K.; U-ET-R; F. L. D.
"Precious gifts come in small packages."

Full of fun, full of pep,
Light of heart, light of step,
Very pretty, very small,
Thus is Ruth, loved by all.

FRANCES JORDAN
Richmond, Virginia

Sigma Sigma Sigma; Mu Omega; D. I. R. K.; Censor Athenian Literary Society, '20; Athletic Association; Cotillion Club; N. O. T.; Chairman Club Work Committee; Y. W. C. A., '20-'21; Property-man Dramatic Club, '20-'21; Assistant Business Manager "The Virginian."

*"What wonders her eyes behold,
Sometimes mischievous, sometimes bold,
Sometimes good, sometimes bad,
Often dreamy, seldom sad."*

SARAH KANE

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Jefferson Debating Society; Ellen Richard's Club.

Impulsive—well she does act impulsively, for instance when she bobbed her hair.

Although she came to us late, this sweet little Senior has won many hearts at S. N. S., and elsewhere, too, we more than suspect, for a word to the wise is sufficient: She is taking "Course Five."

RUTH EMMA KERNODLE
Hamden Sidney, Virginia

Rural Club; Social Service Committee; Y. W. C. A.

"Still achieving, still pursuing."

Ruth has many friends because she believes in fair play and because she is always cheerful. She is an earnest, industrious student.

STELLA MARIE LANG

Temperanceville, Virginia

Eastern Shore Club; Athletic Association;
Y. W. C. A.

*"For if she will, she will,
You may depend on it;
But if she won't, she won't
And that's the end of it."*

If you want help and good advice, call on Stella at any time.

RUTH LAVENDAR

Roanoke, Virginia

Cunningham Literary Society; Jefferson Debating Society; Ellen Richard's Club; Roanoke Club; Athletic Association; Publicity Committee, Y. W. C. A. '19-'20; Finance Committee Y. W. C. A., '20-'21.

If you want to laugh just go to class with Ruth. Ruth is one of our prettiest and cutest girls who has wonderful eyes, and knows how to use them, too.

MARGARET MUNFORD LAWSON

Locklies, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; "Y Store" Committee; Athletic Association; Mission Band; Hiking Club; President Ruffner Debating Society, '20.
"Of soul sincere, in action faithful, in honor clear"

We know there is none like her in person or name. She is just the kind of girl you would like to have for a friend. When once your friend, she is always. This is Margaret—quiet and dignified, but always ready for a good time.

MINNIE KATHRYN LEWIS

Lynchburg, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Assistant Editor-in-chief "The Virginian"; Corresponding Secretary Jefferson Debating Society '19-'20, critic '20-'21; Social Committee Y. W. C. A. '20-'21; Pierian Literary Society; President El Circulo Espanol; Athletic Association; Lynchburg Club; Senior Tennis Club.

"Quiet ways, low voice, lips that can wait, and eyes that do not wonder."

Kathryn's care-free disposition has been like a ray of sunshine throughout her two years at S. N. S. When she leaves her Alma Mater to venture into her chosen life of service, we are sure she will have a successful career.

FRANCES MAC KAN

Norfolk, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Sigma Sigma Sigma; La Cercle Francais; Dramatic Club; Glee Club; Vice-President Cunningham Literary Society; D. I. R. K.; U-ET-R; Secretary and Treasurer Norfolk Club; Cotillion Club; Publicity Committee Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association. "The word 'impossible' is not in my dictionary"

Indeed nothing seems impossible to Frances. She is a fine representative from Norfolk. With her blue eyes, black hair, neat and lady-like appearance, we are sure she will make a success in life.

EDITH MARSHALL

Bedford, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Jefferson Debating Society; Ellen Richard's Club; Rural Club; Student Mission Band.

"You can depend on her for every duty."

Here's a maid "gentle in manner, firm in reality." Edith always looks on the bright side of life and sympathizes with those in the dumps. She is one of our good workers, whom we appreciate greatly.

THELMA M. MASON
Norfolk, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association.
*"Far may we seek before we find,
A heart so gentle and so kind."*

Thelma is one of the quiet members of our class who says little, but whose companionship is greatly to be desired. Her lovable and sympathetic disposition has won her many lasting friends, to whom she always remains true.

MARGARET MEARS
Melfa, Virginia

Athenian Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Vice-President (Spring) '20, Corresponding Secretary (Fall) '20, Ruffner Debating Society; President Eastern Shore Club '19-'20; Athletic Association.

Margaret is one of our girls who has met success in the training school because of the earnestness and interest with which she approaches her work.

Though seeming quiet and dignified, she enjoys all the good times of a school girl.

MARGARET LUCILE McILHANY
Bluefield, West Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Dramatic Club; Glee Club; Assistant Business Manager "Virginian" '20-'21; Chairman Social Service Committee Y. W. C. A. '20-'21; Cunningham Literary Society; Vice-Pres. El Circulo Espanol; Ellen Richard's Club; Server's Tennis Club; Athletic Association; Student Mission Band; Blue Ridge Club; Rural Club; Non in Va Club.
"Good nature and good sense must ever join."

A more conscientious, capable and lovable girl, you will scarcely find. Though she is very much occupied with her study of Spanish, she finds plenty of time for "French."

MARTHA ELIZABETH MEREDITH
Petersburg, Virginia

Athletic Association; (Subject and Leaders)
Religious Work Committee, Y. W. C. A.; Ruffner Debating Society; Athenian Literary Society.

Behold an intellectual shark. She reads Latin for pleasure, and doesn't burn any mid-night oil doing it either. We all predict for her a wonderful future.

MARIA DOSWELL MEREDITH
Gouldin, Virginia

Cunningham Literary Society; Recording Secretary Ruffner Debating Society '20; Athletic Association; Morning Watch Committee '19-'20;
Finance Committee '20-'21 Y. W. C. A.; Vice-President Ellen Richard's Club '20-'21.

"Thy heart is ever gay."

We think Maria will make an excellent teacher and will be fine at marking papers—but her greatest ambition is to "Mark-wood."

RUTH HUNTER MEYERS
Lynchburg, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Lynchburg Club; Athletic Association; Corresponding Secretary Athenian
Literary Society '20-'21; Y. W. C. A.

"For knowledge itself is power."

Ruth is one of our brilliant class-mates and pulls an A on every subject. She is a wonder, and we are sure that success will crown her effort.

MILDRED VIRGINIA MITCHELL

Victoria, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Hiking Club; L. C. C.; President Lunenburg Club.

*"It sight of thee my gloomy soul cheers up,
My hopes revive, and gladness dawns within me."*

Bright and happy, and always willing to help, Mildred is just the girl one needs when in the "dumps."

SARAH ELIZABETH MOORE

Pulaski, Virginia

Delta Sigma Chi; Mu Omega; Delta; President Cotillion Club; Manager Senior Basket Ball Team; Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.; N. O. T.

*"A heart ever brimming over with fun,
A jollier person we ne'er looked upon;
There's fun, cheer, and sympathy all three in her eye,
Say enough about Sarah—we couldn't if we'd try."*

CLAUDINE MORING

Rice, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.

*"Care to our coffin adds a nail no doubt,
And every grin, so merry draxes one out."*

"Laugh and the world laughs with you" is the principle Claudine follows. She has the admirable quality of being able to see the brighter side of life, and her smiles lend a ray of sunshine to all about her.

"Well, it might have been worse."

MARY ELIZABETH BERKELEY MORING

Farmville, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Pres. High School, Class '15-'16, '18-'19; Pres. Junior Class; Pres. Senior Class; Secretary Ellen Richard's Club '18-'19, President '19-'20; Secretary Argus Literary Society '19-'20; Vice-Pres. '20; Assistant Business Manager "Focus" '19; Business Manager "Rotunda" '20; President Server's Tennis Club '20; Student Standards Committee; Promotion Committee; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet '19-'20; Delegate Student Volunteer Convention, Des Moines, Iowa, '20; W. A. N. K.; Le Cercle Francais; Athletic Association; Z. T.

*"When ought is to be done or said,
Of grave import and weighty,
That needs a clear and clever head,
I'll send for this young lady."*

Enough cannot be said of the good qualities of our class president. Interested in all, always ready to lend a helping hand, and to brighten someone with her characteristic smile and kind remarks.

Thus we have "Liz."

EVA MOSTELLA

Clarkton, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Rural Club; Hiking Club.
"What could be more beautiful than nature's garden, or more fascinating than birds and trees."

Eva is one of our rural girls who delights in her agriculture and nature study as well as in frequent outings in the country.

VIRGINIA NELSON

Nelson, Virginia

Chairman Country Life Committee '20-'21; Y. W. C. A.; Publicity Committee '19-'20; Mecklenburg Club; Chairman Membership Committee Rural Life Club '20-'21; Athletic Association.

"Give to the world the best you have, and the best will come back to you."

She is just exactly what Virginia does. She is always ready to lend a helping hand to any school activity, and when Virginia takes hold of things you can depend on their being well done. Here's luck to you, Virginia.

MARY NICHOLS

Petersburg, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Argus Literary Society; Literary Editor "The Virginian"; Religious Committee Y. W. C. A.; Le Cercle Francais; Reporter El Circulo Espanol; Junior Auxilliary; Hiking Club; Dinwiddie Club; Z. T.

*"Still they gazed, and still the wonder grew,
That one small head, could carry all she knew."*

Small of stature is Mary, but oh, her dignity. She is as true as steel to her ideals and conscientious scruples, and her heart is pure.

Accommodating—we'll we should say so. There is not a member of our class who is more willing to help a friend in need.

GRACE OAKES

Whitnell, Virginia

Student Mission Band; Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.; Hiking Club; Secretary—Treasurer Pittsylvania Club; Rural Club.

"For good or ill, she is today what she was yesterday and will remain tomorrow."

Grace is a very industrious girl and can always be relied upon to do what she sets out to do. The above motto well characterizes Grace. We wish her all happiness in the future.

SALLIE PAGE OBENSHAIN

Buchanan, Virginia

Cunningham Literary Society; Jefferson Debating Society; Y. W. C. A.; Secretary Ellen Richard's Club; Z. T.

Do you know Sallie? I have it exactly, for these words describe her: she is dignified, neat, witty, clever, cute, moody, and a little bit of a pessimist. Some day she is going to be the distinguished Domestic Art and Science Alumna of S. N. S.

MILDERED O'BRIEN
Appomatox, Virginia

Student Government Committee '20; Vice-President Pierian Literary Society '19, Treasurer '20; Recording Secretary Jefferson Debating Society '19; Religious Committee '19, and Publicity Committee '20, Y. W. C. A.; Rural Club '20; Secretary Appomatox Club '19.

"The secret of being lovely is being unselfish."

Well, she is known as one upon whom you can always depend. Though she leaves us when the snow is yet on the campus, she takes with her the love of her class-mates and the esteem of her Alma Mater.

MAY ELLEN PARKER
Walersville, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society; President Nansmond Club; Y. W. C. A.

Whenever May Ellen appears the crowd begins to brighten up. This jolly and happy-go-lucky girl is always optimistic. May Ellen gets along well without studying hard enough to ruin her disposition.

RUBY PAULETTE
Scottsville, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Vice-President Athenian Literary Society; Ellen Richard's Club; Bible Study Committee; Athletic Association; Y. W. A.

*"A heart full of yearning,
And a mind full of learning."*

One's first impressions of Ruby are these, neatness and calmness. Her hair is always smooth her blouse is always dainty, and her countenance unruffled.

Ruby is one of those efficient people who does not stir up much dust but accomplishes things.

ALICE PONTON

Ontario, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Y. W. A.

"Her manner quiet and refined."

Alice is very bright and alert. Her lovely quiet voice, her intelligence, and her progressive ideas are bound to bring her success. No matter what she may undertake in the future she will make a success of it.

SARAH MAUDE PORTER

Portsmouth, Virginia

Gamma Theta; Delta; Secretary Athenian Literary; Finance Committee Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; I. K. U.; President Portsmouth Club; F. L. D.

"She is gentle, she is shy,

But there's mischief in her eye."

If ever a fairy tripped with lighter step or spring we'd like to have seen her. Sarah's golden bobbed head and merry laugh have won many, many friends among her classmates.

EVA RUTTER POWERS

Northwest, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Rural Club; Athletic Association; Norfolk Club; Y. W. A.

*"Sometimes I just set and think,
And sometimes I just set."*

Eva is one of those quiet and reserved girls who is hard to know, but after you know her she is a true friend and she has a store of humor which makes her a very delightful companion.

ALICE PRESSON

Dendron Virginia

Pi Alpha; W. A. N. K.; Rural Club; World Fellowship Com. '20 Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association.

*"A high color blooms on her cheek,
And they fairly radiate the joy of living."*

Alice is good-natured and so a great favorite. We are always cheered by her optimistic view of life.

MARY CEPHAS PRUDEN

Suffolk, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Secretary Nansemond Club '20-'21; Rural Life Club.

*"It's wiser being good than bad,
It's safer being meek than fierce."*

Behold a perfectly calm and sane young woman. There's no foolishness about Mary.

EVA TAPELLE PRUDEN

Suffolk, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Membership Committee; Librarian Orchestra; Nansemond Club; Rural Life Club.

"Silence is a great peace-maker."

Among the quiet, unassuming girls of the class is Tapelle. Nevertheless she can surely play a violin, and we all shall remember her as a member of the orchestra.

BESSIE PUGH

Madisonville, Virginia

Publicity Com. Y. W. C. A.; Appomattox Club; Rural Club; Ellen Richard's Club.

Here is "Bess", that mischievous, little light-haired girl with those big brown eyes.

Seeming to some calm and dignified, and she is in fact different when in the presence of gay companions.

MARY RICE

Farmville, Virginia

"A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance."

She belongs to that small class of people who are known as true optimists, who laugh away their fears. Mary's laugh is like spontaneous combustion, and is as catching as the measles. She is very studious and especially shines in History (?).

HETTIE RICHARDSON

Farmville, Virginia

Delta Sigma Chi; Mu Omega; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Cotillion Club.

"Fair as a star when only one is shining in the sky."

Who is this quiet and dainty little Senior who lives in town? That is Hettie. She often comes down to the Normal School and shines like a bright star, but she's always glad to get "Homer Ginn."

NELLIE MOORE ROBERTSON
Sprout Spring, Virginia

Cunningham Literary Society; Rural Committee Y. W. C. A.; Business Manager Athletic Association '19-'20; Ellen Richard's Club; Campus Leagus '19-'20; Vice-President I. K. U. '20-'21; Appomattox Club.

"He live not for ourselves, but for others."

You may be sure that once Nellie is your friend, she is your friend forever. Her generosity, kindness, and willingness to lend a helping hand wherever needed show her daily motto is the above. She is strong true, sincere, and independent.

FLORENCE ELIZABETH ROUNDTREY
Oaklette, Virginia

Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.; Norfolk Club; Ruffin Debating Club; Pierian Literary Society.

How very true one is when she says, "Florence is an awfully nice girl". She takes being imposed upon in the calmest manner, and never seems angry. She is quiet, but beneath her reserve there is great ambition, a busy brain and a heart as true as steel. Her only fault is that she worries too much about tomorrow.

WELBY SAUNDERS
Lynchburg, Virginia

W. A. N. K.; B. I. R. D. S.; Recording Secretary Cunningham Literary Society '20-'21; Y. W. C. A.; Membership Committee; Hiking Club; Athletic Association; Lynchburg Club.

"She could on either side dispute"

Confute, change hands and still confute."

Welby is small in size—but in size only. Have you ever seen her with a "furious mad" on? Well, her madness is an agreeable one. Welby is a fine old girl. What she says may be depended upon. She is a splendid little worker and a dandy sport.

IDA SAVILLE

Murat, Virginia

Athletic Association; Ellen Richard's Club;
Bible Study Committee Y. W. C. A.

This dear girl from the mountains,

Full of laughter and cheer;

May her life be a bright one

And guide many a mountaineer.

Her dimple is made by a smile,

Not a shadow it seems to cast,

May she meet in life with all that's worth while,

And make her goal at last.

DOROTHY SCHAEFER

Lynchburg, Virginia

Vice-President Y. W. C. A. '20-'21; Social Committee, '19-'20; Second Vice-President Argus Literary Society; Lieutenant Hiking Club,
'19-'20; Captain Hiking Club; W. A. N. K.;
Glee Club; Lynchburg Club; Mandolin and Guitar Club; Cotillion Club; B-I-R-D-S.

"Dot"

Don't worry about your work. Do what you can, let the rest go, and smile all the time.

"What is that bunch laughing at over there?

It is only Dot Schaefer and her humor."

There seems to be one particular friend among many here. Mention the Training School and watch her eyes flash.

LOUISE SCOTT

Deltaville Virginia

Y. W. C. A. Publicity Committee '20-'21;
Athletic Association, Hiking Club; Mandolin and Guitar Club; Glee Club; Ruffner Debating Society; Gloucester and Mathews Club—'19-'20.

"Love, sweetness, goodness, in her person shrouds."

Louise, though better known to us as "Scott" is one of those lovable girls with whom it is a pleasure to be. She is the soul of wit and humor and we would recommend her as a good cure for the blues.

LILA SINCLAIR

Nexara, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society; Rural Club; Rug-ner Debating Society; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association.

"She knows what she knows, when she knows it."

She has an opinion of her own, nor does she fail to express it on most occasions. For her frankness and sincerity she is greatly admired by many friends at S. N. S.

HELEN SKILLMAN

Ashland, Virginia

Sigma Sigma Sigma; Cotillion Club; Rural Club; Student Government Committee; Athenian Literary Society; Editor-in-chief "The Rotunda"; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Orchestra; U-Et-R.

"I smile for all, a greeting glad,

An amiable, jolly way she had."

There is not another young lady at S. N. S.
with a sweeter disposition and pleasanter smile than Helen—And that isn't all. She is also one of the busiest little persons one can find. Work?
Well—we will always remember her as editor of "The Rotunda".

THEO SMITH

Hampden Sidney, Virginia

Athletic Association; Y. W. C. A.; Jefferson
Debating Society; Ellen Richard's Club.

"Happy am I, from care I'm free;

If they aren't they all contented like me?"

Here is another quiet, dignified Senior girl.
Though small in stature, she always says exactly what she thinks.

MILDRED SOMERS

Bloxom, Virginia

President Eastern Shore Club; Athletic Association; Rural Life Club; Y. W. C. A.

*"A blushing bride with short boxed hair
A graceful form, a face so fair,
There's fun and mischief in her eye,
And still we find her quiet and shy."*

EMMA SQUIRE

Emporia, Virginia

Cunningham Literary Society; Glee Club; Y. W. C. A.

Emma is a neat, quiet, modest, and very attractive senior, who has won the hearts and sincere love of all her friends. We wish her a happy and successful future.

MANIE ST. JOHN

Cullen, Virginia

Athletic Association; Rural Club; Y. W. C. A.; Glee Club.

*"True to herself,
True to her friends,
True to her duty always."*

Manie is a modest student. She always studies her lessons well, and if she does everything as conscientiously, she will always succeed.

MARIE SUTTON

Sandidges, Virginia

Cunningham Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Jefferson Society.

Marie impresses one as being calm and dignified. She's always there waiting calmly while the rest come tumbling in. She can always answer something when called upon in class in the same calm manner.

KATHRYN THOMPSON

Warrenton, Virginia

Gamma Theta; Pan Hellenic representative; Y. W. C. A.; W-A-N-K; Argos Literary Society, Corresponding Secretary, 1920; Athletic Association; U-Et-R; Senior Tennis Club; F. L. D.

"And cloudy the day or stormy the night,

The sky of her heart is always bright."

Kathryn is one of those independent, care free girls who captures the hearts of all. She is a loyal friend. May she spread as much joy always as she has at S. N. S.

MARY VIRGINIA THRIFT

Dinwiddie Virginia

Athletic Association; Rural Club; Y. W. C. A.; Dinwiddie Club.

"Subtle smiles are in her smiles,

To set the world a wooing."

Now you may think Virgie is shy, but that is where looks deceive, for if you really knew how often she visits the parlor, you would wonder.

MARGARET TRAYLOR

Richmond, Virginia

Treasurer Senior Class; Secretary and Treasurer Athletic Association; Athenian Literary Society; Social Service Committee Y. W. C. A. Hiking Club.

*"Of all the sunbeams that did ever shine,
The very sweetest hath to thee been given."*

Margaret's enthusiasm as a keen participant in sports may be excelled only by her popularity among her classmates, who have recognized her ability in many ways.

MILDRED JACKSON TRENT

Appomattox, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society; Publicity Committee Y. W. C. A.; Ellen Richard's Club; Athletic Association; Appomattox Club; Mandolin and Guitar Club.

*"O, Mildred, with your eyes so blue,
A-looking merry at me, too,
It's the songs ye sing an' the smiles ye wear,
That's a-makin' the sunshine everywhere."*

Sweet, dignified, and lovable a good student and a good comrade—in Mildred all of these qualities are found.

HELEN TREVILLIAN

Ark, Virginia

Athletic Association; Rural Club; Y. W. C. A.; Hiking Team-Lieutenant; Senior Basketball Team.

"Fleet of foot, and keen of mind, Characteristics of Helen you'll find."

Who is this Senior who has won everlasting fame on the Athletic field? Helen, a basketball star on the Senior team, a good friend as well as a good sport.

VIRGINIA ELIZABETH TROTTER

Lawrenceville, Virginia

Mu Omega; D. I. R. K.; Server's Tennis Club; U-Et-R; F. L. D.; Athletic Association; Cotillion Club; Y. W. C. A.

"Life without laughing is a dreary blank."

Virginia fills her life with ever ready smiles which endear her to all her friends. May she be able to laugh her way through life.

ANNIE DAVIS TUNE

Ingram, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Rural Club; Halifax Club; Ellen Richard's Club.

Annie is one of those quiet and demure girls who does a lot without saying much. Those who are fortunate enough to know her, appreciate her kind and sweet disposition.

LOUISE CREWS TUNE

Ingram, Virginia

Sub-Chairman Country Life Committee; Y. W. C. A. '20-'21; Publicity Committee '19-'20; Rural Club; Secretary-Treasurer Halifax Club; Athletic Association.

"Of softest manner, unaffected mind,

Lover of peace, a friend of human kind."

The better you know Louise, the more you can appreciate her jolly disposition. She is a girl to be called upon where there is work to be done and the laborers are few.

DELMA NEAL VAN SICKLER

Roanoke, Virginia

President Athletic Association '20-'21; President Jefferson Debating Society '20-'21; Vice President Mandolin Guitar Club; Cunningham Literary Society; Captain Senior Basket Ball Team; Server's Tennis Club '19-'21; Religious Committee Y. W. C. A., Promotion Committee; Orchestra '19-'20.

"Hang sorrow; care will kill a cat."

Behold in this all important personage one of the smallest members of our class, a good sport and an authority on basket ball. May she always be as true to her ideals and loyal to her friends as she has been to S. N. S.

JACQUELINE VENABLE

"Jac"

Farmville, Virginia

Gamma Theta; Pi Alpha; W. A. N. K.; Athenian Literary Society; Coillion Club; I. K. U.; "K"; Owls; Y. W. C. A.

"Never a worry, never a care"

"Nothing on earth that she wouldn't dare,

Blue are her eyes, bobbed is her hair,

Happy and cheerful no matter where."

Thus is "Jac" of our Senior Class,

Ne'er could we find sae bonnie a lass!!

ANNA VRIES

Petersburg, Virginia

Pi Kappa Omega; Sec. Y. W. C. A. '20-'21; Art Editor Virginian '21; Critic Argus Literary Society '19-'21; Alumnae Committee, Y. W. C. A. '19-'20; Athletic Association.

"The will to do"

The soul to dare."

This little girl from the "land of windmills and wooden shoes" has won many friends in our midst. Her many abilities and winsome personality insure her a successful future in whatever she may be.

VIRGIE WADE
Franklin, Virginia

Athletic Association; Membership Committee
Y. W. C. A.; Hiking Club.

"The mildest manner and the gentlest heart."

Virgie is one of those girls who is interested in almost every phase of school life. She shows a great deal of enthusiasm in all forms of athletics. No matter how early the hour she is always willing to join the hiking party.

LORIE MAE WALKER
Bedford, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Hiking Club.

*"Her heart is ever true and full of fun,
She laughs 'til the day is done."*

Who has said "The world loves a merry heart?" Indeed we find a combination of merri-ness, happiness and winsomeness in Lorie. Best of all, she reflects this on others too.

LOUISE WATKINS
Windsor, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Isle of Wight Club; Hiking Club.

"Do your work and do it well,

It is as good a rule as tongue can tell."

This is ever practised by that dignified senior, Louise. She never fails to study her lessons. By her quiet disposition, she has made a host of friends, who wish her all success in the future.

ADDIE MAE WELLS

Boydton, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Hiking Club; Basket Ball Team '20-'21; Rural Club; Mecklenberg Club; Mission Band.
"Hers is the brightest of sweet faces, Bringing sunshine to all sad places."

Addie is an all-round sport, and when it comes to athletics, she is a star. Her sincerity and witty remarks have won her a host of friends who will c'er be true to her.

DOROTHY WELLS

Farmville, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Junior Basket Ball Team; Athletic Association.

*"The diamond is by many monarchs worn,
 Fair is the star that ushers in the morn."*

Look on "Dot's" left hand and the above will easily be explained. She seems to run to "D's"—such as diamond and Dodge. However, she is interested in school activities too and her classmates will always remember her work on the Junior Basket Ball Team.

CONSTANCE WHITLOCK

Tobaccoville, Virginia

Sigma Sigma Sigma; Pi Alpha; D. I. R. K.; Athenian Literary Society; Y. W. C. A. Leader Cotillion Club; High School Club Committee; Athletic Association.

"Her girlish face, Alight with love and tender grace."

Perhaps Constance's ability for making friends lies in this: "The way to gain a friend is to be one." If you don't believe it just inquire at Hampden Sidney and Blackstone.

EDNA MAY WILKINSON

Holdcraft, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Ellen Richard's Club.

Edna May is indeed an intellectual girl, and when she begins a task, she sees it to a finish. The only puzzling fact concerning her is - - Why did she insist upon pursuing the studies of Course V when she is so bitterly opposed to matrimony?

RUTH WILLAN

Norfolk, Virginia

Athletic Association '19-'20; Y. W. C. A. '19-'20.

"Works while she works, and plays while she plays."

One of the best all-round girls you will find is Ruth; and one who faithfully carries out the above admonition.

LOIS WILLIAMS

Portsmouth, Virginia

Sigma Sigma Sigma; Cunningham Literary Society; Dramatic Club; D. I. R. K.; Le Cercle Français; Social Service Committee Y. W. C. A.; U-Et-R; Athletic Association; Portsmouth Club.

"We can't find words to express

Our feeling for one so dear;

However, we are all quite certain,

She will ever bring joy and cheer."

As for Lois's dramatic ability—all we need to say about that is "Pattie".

EDITH WILLIAMSON

Clifton Forge, Virginia

*"Happy to bed happy to rise,
'Tis this that makes her so wise."*

Some people have an active hobby, as does Edith. Basket ball puts p-e-p into her where she has certainly starred on the field. She is a fine old girl, a good teacher, a good student, a good sport, friendly, particular, and independent.

VIOLETTA WILSON

Newport News, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; I. K. U., Hiking Club; Treasurer of Ruffner Debating Society; Campus League '20; Athletic Association; Ser-ver's '19.

"Don't bother me—I have no care, I'm in for mischief—no matter where."

Speaking of fun!!! She is brimming over with it. It takes Violetta to drive the blues away.

ELIZABETH CARLISLE WOODWARD

Clifton Forge, Virginia

Pi Alpha; Treasurer, Student Committee; W. A. N. K.; Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Z. T.

"There's a deal of deviltry beneath this mild exterior."

Lib is a good sport and most attractive girl. She is a staunch, true, loyal friend and makes many friends wherever she goes by her good nature and winsome smile.

HELEN WOOLFOLK

Thornhill, Virginia

Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Rural Club; Hiking Club; Secretary-Treasurer Orange Club.

*"For she is wise if I can judge of her and,
Fair she is if that mine eyes be true."*

Helen is one of those conscientious unselfish persons who is loved by all who know her. She Club; Hiking Club; Secretary-Treasurer Orange Club.

CORALIE WOOLRIDGE

Amburg, Virginia

Y. W. C. A. Publicity Com. '20-'21; Corresponding Secretary Ruffner Society '19-'20; Athletic Association; Hiking Club.

*"For what she saith, ye may it trust,
As if by writing sealed were,
And virtues has she many more Than I with pen hath skill to show."*

We all love to call her friend for she is a true one. She is known as a girl to be depended upon. Coralie has the marked characteristics that go a long way toward making a success in life, and we believe she will reflect honor on her Alma Mater.

BARTA WORRELL

Hopewell, Virginia

Pierian Literary Society; Glee Club; Social Service Committee Y. W. C. A.; Athletic Association; Prince George Club.

Barta possesses one trait which so many of us lack—good, hard common sense. She is industrious and one whom you can always depend upon. She generally knows some of her lessons and can bluff through the rest beautifully.

CELESTIA WRIGHT

Lovington, Virginia

Rural Club; Y. W. C. A.; Athenian Literary Society.

"Known by few but prized as far as known."

Celestia is one of our neat, quiet, modest, refined seniors. Because of her calm disposition and gentle manner she is very much admired.

THELMA YOST

Roanoke, Virginia

Vice-President Senior Class; President Ellen Richard's Club, '20-'21; Financial Committee Y. W. C. A.; W. A. N. K.; Cunningham Literary Society; Student Standards Committee Athletic Association; Assistant Art Editor, "The Virginian"; Roanoke Club. Z. T.

*"The fairies early endowed her
With a rich gift and rare;
They, fluttering o'er her cradle,
Left a box of colors there."*

Original talented, and sociable, these are the characteristics of Thelma. The class of '21 thinks it a privilege to have her as a member.

PEARL YOUNG

Farmville, Virginia

Glee Club; Y. W. C. A.

*"A dillar, a dollar,
A ten o'clock scholar."*

Pearl, a town girl, does not have bells, everlasting bells, to give her a start in the bright early morning. Thus she answers "present" about ten A. M. Yet somehow manages to pull all A's?

HISTORY

T was on a warm September day that we stepped from the train with our hands full of suitcases and our eyes full of cinders. Girls, girls, we had never seen so many, and such pretty ones, before. We began to wonder if we had stepped off the train into the school building itself. However, we were wrong in this supposition, for when we left behind the chatter and began to ascend what might have been a mountain for all the loss of breath it caused, we found that what we had left was merely a station and not the school at all.

When we reached the school, we saw even more girls than we had seen at the station. Surely all of the girls in the United States were gathered at Farmville. We were quickly ushered into Room J. It was in this room that we learned our first lesson in patience. It was with a look of expectancy on our face that we first entered, and we tried to look cool and unconcerned while our pulses raced madly. We chatted gaily as we waited to see what would happen. Nothing happened. The minutes now began to drag, the shoulders to droop, the faces lost their eagerness, conversation ceased. Sighs of weariness were heard over the room. Our one and only consolation was that, in waiting, we had plenty of company.

The first few days at S. N. S. will never be forgotten by us. It was during this time that we learned the way from Miss Jennie's office to the Business office without turning at least three corners.

Then followed some days during which we began to doubt seriously the wisdom of the person who first began the boarding school. Then it was that our thoughts were turned toward home. When our classes began, we forgot our sorrows in wildly dashing from the East to the West Wing of the building, trying in the short five minutes between bells, to find the room which someone said was "just around the corner."

It did not take us long to become adjusted to the new conditions, and in time we were organized as the Junior Class, with Elizabeth Moring as our President, and Mrs. Bretnal as our Junior Man. With the latter as our sympathetic and interested guide, we planned many things.

When Thanksgiving Day came, we were quite ready for something as exciting as the basketball game. To show the Seniors something of our strength, we lined up, and marched down to the field. There seemed to be an endless chain of us with our colors flying in all directions. How we did chuckle to ourselves as we saw the expression of helplessness on the faces of the Seniors when they looked at us. We did not feel quite so gay when we left the field, for the Seniors were the victors, but we tried to be good losers and hoped to do better in the future.

There came a day when all of us went around with a broad smile on our faces. If we danced instead of walked, we were not responsible, for, on that very day, Dr. Jarman told us that our Christmas holidays were to be extended. Never was there such tumultuous happiness among a group of girls as on that day. Literal shouts of joy showed the complete satisfaction that this announcement produced. It was with a feeling of unbounded joy that our voices rose in the singing of "What's the Matter with Jarman."

When Field Day came, we were again found in high spirits. This was the day the Juniors walked away with the honors. Perhaps the Seniors could play basketball but the Juniors could win laurels on the athletic field.

As a fitting climax of our Junior year our dream of the possession of the sparkling Athletic Loving Cup was realized. It would be rather a delicate task to describe the innermost feelings of the two hundred fifty Juniors when Dr. Jarman presented this symbol of championship to our Class. It was the first time in the history of S. N. S. that a Loving Cup had been presented to any class. The Class of 1920 has the distinction, therefore, of being the first class to have its name engraved upon its smooth surface, and our colors were the first to wave from its handle.

Soon commencement days were with us. We felt rather out of place among the busy Seniors who looked so important and self-satisfied. We wondered if the day would ever come when we, too, would get a diploma.

Though we could scarcely believe it, the fall of 1920 came only too soon—and we were Seniors at last. It took us sometime to realize this, but when we were organized with Elizabeth Moring again as our able President, and Miss Munoz as our Senior Man, we began to feel like real Seniors. To be a Senior was splendid, but thoughts of the Training School made us most uncomfortable. Try as we could to avoid it, the day came when we went over there with slow steps, hoping that all of the children would play hookey that day, but of course, all were present. We gathered together, bit by bit, all of the dignity we possessed, and with our bravest and most cheering smile walked in to meet the children. In time, we learned to make inaudible the knocking of our knees, and ended by saying, "The Training School isn't so dreadful after all."

As Seniors, we were more successful as basketball players, for on Thanksgiving Day of 1920, we won the game.

When Christmas time was near, we again tried to use our charms upon Dr. Jarman, but although, we put up our strongest arguments, he could not be brought to "see our points." He did, however, allow us one extra day for which we were grateful.

The Spring term came before we realized it, and soon our preparations for leaving our Alma Mater began.

Now that commencement time is here, we forget the unpleasant and think only of the pleasant part of our school life. Commencement day approaches. It is not evening, but dawn. Our daily round of school lessons is over, but not indeed our daily lessons of real life. We stand at the dawn of a new day, ready to master our tasks with no helping hand but that of stern experience to guide us. We commence in truth our real work of service to the world. May we so strengthen and rebuild the structure upon which our education is placed, that we may some day be worthy of the school that now sends us forth.

—Class Historian.

Class Horn

Comrades, 'Tis hard to say adieu,
The primrose path we fain would tread,
That lingers in the morning dew ;
And tarries by the river head,
But through the gate, and up the hill
We now must go, we cannot stay.
The flowers may be blooming still
Beside the path that marks our way,
And should we not shed idle tears,
To find our youth so fleet a thing?
Ah no! For there are other years
That may a golden harvest bring,
But comrades c'en if we would stay
The shadows fall, the mists arise ;
The curtain sinks on yesterday
It sinks before our very eyes.
Then we should turn and look ahead,
And Lo!! Before us we can see
A million paths, and on they spread,
Upward and on eternally.
Then through the gate and up the hill!
For just a while we say adieu!
And choose our path. Let come what will,
We'll play the game until it's through.

—Mary Boccock.

"Shucks!" whined Jenny Mae, "I'm tired of playing bears. Can't you think of something else, Aunt Dorothy?"

I was at my wit's end. How could I amuse the children on this rainy day? Then I remembered how I, as a child, used to enjoy visiting the attic and rummaging thru the old trunks, and seeing the queer hats and dresses of long ago.

"How would you like to go up in the attic and look thru grandmother's trunk?" I said, delighted with the idea myself.

"Fine!" shouted the children in one breath. Then, up the old attic stairs we scrambled, and began our search thru the trunks.

"What is this?" asked Jenny Mae, handing me what seemed to be an ordinary pair of opera glasses.

"These are opera glasses" I said, putting them to my eyes. But they were decidedly different from any I had ever seen before; for instead of seeing objects close at hand, I saw the bright lights of Broadway, and there flashed before me a large electrical sign—"Sara Andrews." Sure enough, Sara was the leading lady in a musical comedy, and co-starring with Sara were Jane Bacon, Aileen Chambers, Katherine Cralle, Elizabeth Crenshaw, and Lucile Fox. The audience was urged not to leave since there was still another number on the program—a superb singer, Pattie Garrett.

The bright lights faded, and there appeared an enormous school for boys. Which one of my classmates would be here? It was there that I saw a neat little lady—Reva Graves—with her hair beautifully curled, teaching the young men how to tat. They sat around her with the most adoring looks, while she explained fully each step involved.

Next, I saw the campus of V. P. I, and, strolling lazily along the walks, were Mildred Hall and Constance Whitlock. They had become so attached to the place during their school days, that each had married a professor, and now seemed well satisfied.

The campus vanished and I saw a large orphan asylum with Lucile and Myrtle Chappell at its head. Their assistants were Mary Bolen, Kathleen Bristow, Louise Doyle and Mary Easley, all of whom were beloved by the children.

Susie Booker had such good practice in managing big undertakings while getting out the Virginian, that she was put in charge of a popular boys' school in Philadelphia. She had excellent teachers, having chosen them herself. There was Elinor Dameron who taught vocal; Virginia Bouldin, physical education; Blanche Conwell, reading; and Maria Meredith, cooking.

And now I saw dear S. N. S. It was the same from the outside, but had undergone some changes within. There were several girls who had returned, for I saw Ella Jenkins teaching her domestic science pupils how to cook light bread without heating it, so it could be easily cut when done. Who is the sad looking lady attending to the affairs of the school? Miss Mary gave up the job, it having become too much for her, and Dora Jett had kindly offered to take her place.

On the outskirts of Farmville, almost hidden by a big straw hat, I saw Sallie Barksdale weeding her cabbage patch. The kitchen door of the house opened and there appeared Sarah Moore. They could not be separated and when Sallie felt it her duty to raise cabbages for the Normal School, Sarah thought it her duty to help also.

There were several noble ladies who, having felt the need of satisfactory shopping centers when in Farmville were philanthropic enough to go into the mercantile business so that all future students of this institution of learning could enjoy the shopping advantages known to larger cities. These noble women were Pearle Young, Jacqueline Venable, Mary Rice, Lucy Irving, Daphne Gilliam, and Anne Bullock.

What was this next sight which greeted my eyes? Who the running figure and who the one pursuing? Looking more intently at them, I perceived Elizabeth Meredith, who on a bet was making a trip around the world in three days, and the figure, bringing up the rear, was Edith Carr who was urged to go along with her and sing, to incite Elizabeth to faster speed.

Just as I was leaving Farmville, I perceived a cloud of dust moving rapidly down the road. Who was at the head of the strange procession? As it came closer I recognized Mary Derieux, and behind her came cats of all description. When I inquired the reason for this, I was informed that Mary was a cat doctor, and instead of receiving her M. D. degree, she received her C. D. degree. All the cats, which she had cured, now followed her footsteps wherever she went. Of course, there were nurses who aided Mary in this great undertaking, Edith Marshall, Ruth Kernolle, Lucy Howell, Clifford Hutchesson, Jane Haddon, Mary Sue Hammond, and Alice Ponton.

Next, I saw Sue Brown dressed in the becoming black of a widow. She was surrounded by suitors galore. Sue said that as a general rule, widows should not marry the second time, but, as she learned from French verbs that there were exceptions to all rules, she was contemplating a second venture.

The scene rapidly changed to a busy street corner in Washington, where some leader was boosting the Democratic nominee. If he were to win, he had to have an energetic cheer leader, and so Virginia Gibbs was voted upon unanimously. It was she who was conducting the campaign, and in the crowd were Margaret Mears, Ida Saville, Hettie Richardson, Lelia Burrow, and Ruth Cutts, Elizabeth Ganaway, Sara Hughes, Minor Jones, Kathryn Thompson, Ruth Lavendar, and Eva Powers.

I peeped into the Capitol, and there directing the affairs of the nation sat Mamie Nichols. This was not surprising as Mamie had shown such interest in civics. Perhaps Mr. Lear was the inspiration for her present position. In the Senate were Nellie Robertson and Helen Skillman, conducting a heated argument on which way a street should run.

In the Supreme Court sat a Judge whom I did not recognize, but he had as his assistant Ruth Willan, and what she didn't know, she asked Sethelle Barclift the second assistant. Among the audience sat Annie and Louise Tune, giggling as usual, and Tapelle and Mary Pruden, back to back. They were mad with each other and would not speak.

And now I saw a sign which read "Man Haters;" and below the sign sat Emma Squire and Lois Claud. No men were allowed to even see these ladies, and one, if by chance, sought an interview, he had to give ten reasons to each guard defending his sex. The guards in order were Irene Anderson, Grace Carwile, Eliza Clopton, Justin Gibson, Stella Lang, Sara Kane, and Edith Williamson.

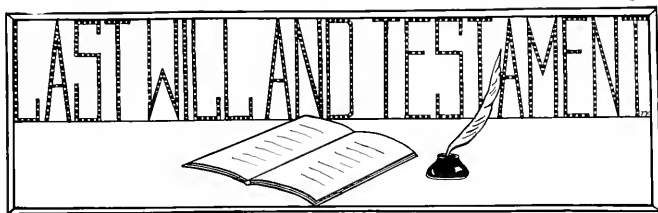

Next I saw a brightly lighted ball room, and in the midst of the room were two groups of men in evening dress. The crowd parted a little and I saw in the centre of each group, flirting with all of them at once, Louise Brewer and Margaret Lawson.

Mercy- what do I see? Welby Saunders who was so fond of light hair has dyed hers black and is dancing the Hula Hula for spectators in Hawaii. And the spectators? I know them all—Eva Mostella, Virginia Thrift, Helen Trevilian, Marie Sutton, Mamie St. John, Louise Scott, Violet Griffin, and Mamie Holland. Dear me! and there is Otey Helm attempting the Hula too. Who would have thought it of these two demure maidens of S. N. S.?

Would I had time to tell you all the sights which I saw. I peeped into various happy homes and saw Addie and Cecil Hargrave, Ella Gates, Frances McKan, Mary Garner, Lois Williams, all happily married. Alice Presson and Lou Gregory were missionaries in Africa. Nina Armbrister, Marion Camper, and Ellen Carleson were successful stenographers. Violetta Wilson was a movie star of the vampire type. I caught sight of a circus van, and the tight rope walker was none other than Carolyn Harrell; and Virgie Dugger was the attractive little snake charmer. Marie Baldwin was a Spanish Dancer. Ruth Jones had become a famous writer of detective stories, and Thelma Yost's company dramatized them. This company was composed of Elizabeth Woodward, an admirable Sherlock, Audrey, Maud, and Ethel Glenn, Flora Clingenpeel, and Mildred Somers. Mildred Trent having become attached to the name Shannon while teaching was a singer of the one song "Where the River Shannon Flows." Delma Van Sickler was a constant reader of her favorite book—HOW TO BECOME ATHLETIC. Elizabeth Moring was teaching French in a French University, and Mary Bocock was the first poet laureate of the United States. Lila Sinclair was a toe-dancer, rivaling Pavalowa. Madeline Forestal was back in Wisconsin. Frances Jordan, a life saver at Atlantic City, had just rescued the champion swimmer, Mildred Mitchell. Katherine Hancock was making a scientific study of "Alice in Wonderland" to find the magic way of growing tall and thin.

Before I could find with what success Katherine was meeting, Jenny Mae snatched the glasses from me. "You've had these glasses long enough, Aunt Dorothy. I want to see."

—Class Prophet.

We, the Senior Class of 1921, of the State Normal School of Farmville, Virginia, on this the sixth day of June, being of sound and disposing mind, do make, ordain, and declare this our Last Will and Testament.

Item 1. To the Seniors of next year we bequeath our quiet, reserved manner, our irreproachable "professional attitude," and our sympathetic understanding of the heart of a child.

Item 2. To them, also, do we leave our envious seats in chapel. May they live up to this honor.

Item 3. To each member of the Faculty do we solemnly will back all the notes they have sent us.

Item 4. To Dr. Tidyman we leave an X-Ray with corresponding accessories that he may better tell when a senior is solving a problem.

Item 5. To Miss Tucker we will all the reference books, encyclopedias, and source books in the library that she may inflict upon the on-coming seniors a "little" outside work.

Item 6. To the Seniors of next year we leave a book, edited and copyrighted by us, of lesson plans with teachers' and pupils' aims, guaranteed to please the supervisors.

Item 7. To Miss Munz we bequeath a conscientious town-girl.

Item 8. To the student body in general we leave the secret of the diamond on Miss Taliaferro's ringfinger.

Item 9. To you, Oh! frequenters of the association-room, we leave the smiles and pleasant manner of Miss Maude K. Taliaferro.

Item 10. We solemnly bequeath to Miss Stubbs a little one-room school house in the back-woods with plenty of "bayseed" to practice on.

Item 11. To Mr. Feitig we lovingly leave a pinch of salt!

Item 12. To Mr. Grainger we bequeath a box of animation.

Item 13. To Mr. Lear we leave a copy of the Old Testament that he may profit by the patience of Jacob in winning "Rachel."

Item 14. To Miss Smithy we leave the love and devotion of the Senior Class.

Item 15. To our Alma Mater and President and all who have contributed to making these days memorable to us, we leave our gratitude and loyalty.

Item 16. To the Town of Farmville, we leave several years of pleasant memories, and no unpaid bills.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we hereby give our signatures and affix our seals to this our Last Will and Testament, at the State Normal School, Farmville, Virginia, this 6th day of June, 1921, in the presence of, and witnessed by—

ELIZABETH MORING, President.
THELMA YOST, Vice-President.
CAROLYN HARRELL, Secretary.
MARGARET TRAYLOR, Treasurer.
E. DAPHNE GILLIAM, Lawyer.

SAYINGS

Well, my love,
I'm a wreck!
That ought to get 'em!
That's a crummy trick!
I'm scared to death!
I know I flunked!
I think that's tacky!
It's all the same to me!
Do you roll your own?
Munchy!
Horrors!
Mercy!
Oh, shoot!
Well law!
I'm petrified!
Well hokus!
Hunkety Hunk!
Old dear!
I don't give a hang!
I've just got so much to do, I'll do nothing!
Tell me something about this lesson.
Wouldn't that make you hit your mamma?
Got-ter go to Training School, now.

As They Are Seen

"Dignified, studious, earnest, and wise,

These are our traits," a Fourth Professional cries,

Teachers think them A girls, but we know them best,

They're just as big dummies as all the rest.

Third Professional too, think they're right smart and big

And soon will be wearing the cap and gown rig,

Some say Third Prof's make them tremble with fear;

Good night, girls, weren't they Seniors last year?

Seniors all think they're head of the school,

Supervisors, training school, and faculty they fool,

No use the reckless Seniors to fear—

Every last one was a Junior last year.

Everyone knows a Junior when seen,

Dear little Freshmen so timid and green,

Tired and weary, worked with a force,

Learn to take flunking as a matter of course.

Fourth Years are somewhat uppish and fast;

Their gayety and "crushes" long do not last;

They learn to calm down in a short while or so,

When Latin and French question how much they know.

The dear little Third Years, getting used to "no play",

Settle down in the background several years more to stay;

They seldom are heard from and then in wee voice,

And seldom are questioned just as to their choice.

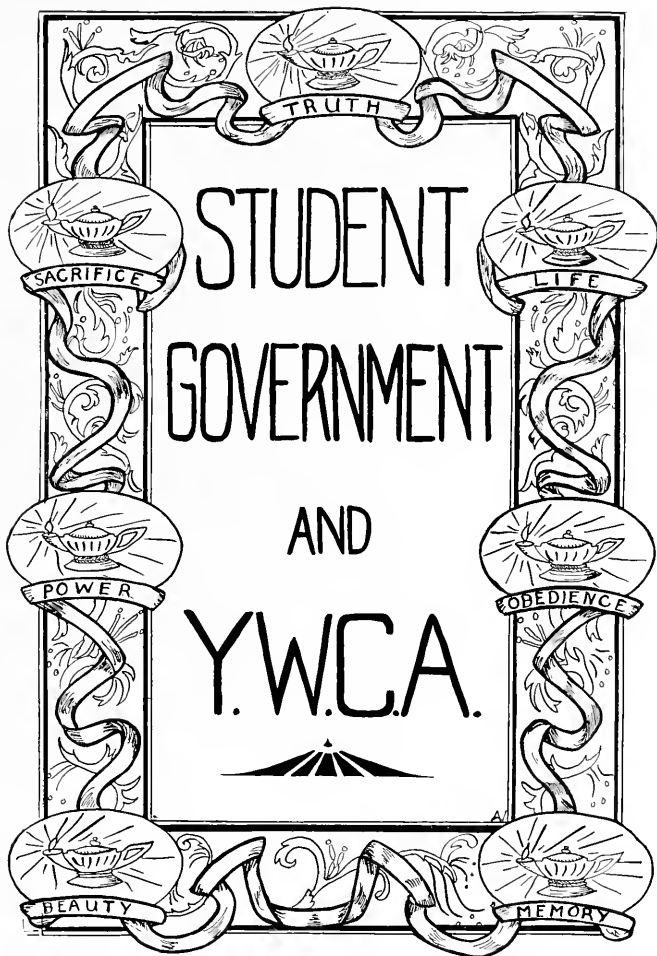

So thus are our classes, each brought to the light,

Each pictured as seen in each other's sight;

Quite filled up with faults we really confess,

But grand classes they are, for they make S. N. S.

Hi Kappa Omega

Though oft the road seem toilsome, hard, and long—
The weary road that leads toward the light—
To upward climb: to keep alway in sight
The worthy goal; to ever sing a song
Of sweet content. In loving service strong;—
In lending help to take a rare delight.
To learn, to serve, to lead toward the right,—
To love of truth and hatred of all wrong.

To learn, to lead, to serve—behold, these three
The great objective form. Full well to know
The joys of service, and, whate'er there be
To overcome, that maketh hard the way, to show
Unto the world (so all may clearly see)
That service doth from love and knowledge grow.

JENNIE MASTERS TABB.

ATHLETICS

The Athletic Association

The Athletic Association has always played an important part in school activities. To make this part even more vital the association was reorganized in the fall of 1920 with the purpose in view of co-operating with the department of physical education for the promotion of the physical and social activities of the student body.

During the month of February the Association put on a better health campaign and fine class spirit was shown in this contest, the majority of girls in each class playing the game.

Each year there is a field day on which we have baseball, tennis and other field events, and here is where we really see the greatest display of class spirit for each class does its best to win the loving cup which is presented from year to year to the one who wins the most points.

We have class spirit. Have we school spirit? In the past we have had no real way to show our true school spirit in athletics. Beginning with this year S. N. S. is planning inter-school contests with other normals in basket ball. We have already played Harrisonburg two games in which fine school spirit was shown by both teams and although S. N. S. was defeated she hopes for better success next year.

SENIOR

Go get a go-cart
Go get a hack
And take those Juniors way back,
Way back.

S-E-N-I-O-R-S.

That's the way to spell it.
And here's the way to yell it.

Seniors! Seniors!
Junior's in the high chair.

Who put them up there?
Ma? Pa? Sis? boom bah

Seniors, Seniors, Rah! Rah! Rah!
Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah!

Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah!
Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah!
Seniors! Seniors! Seniors!

THIRD YEAR

Rah, Rah, Rah, Rah, Rah, Rah.
The Third Year team is sick today.
S-i-c-k—s-i-c-k—sick, sick!
Hush!! Babies.

With a vevo, with a vivo,
With a vevo, vivo, yum.
It's just as plain as plain can be
We have those Third Years up a tree.
With a vevo, with a vivo,
With a vevo, vivo, yum.

JUNIOR

Strawberry shortcake, huckleberry pie.
V-I-C-T-O-R-Y.
Are we in it? Well I guess.
Juniors, Juniors, Yes. Yes. Yes.

SONG

We are Juniors born
We are Juniors bred
And when we die
We'll be Juniors dead.
So Rah! Rah! for Juniors, Juniors,
Rah! Rah! for Juniors, Juniors,
Rah! Rah! for Juniors,
Rah! Rah! Rah!

1-2-3-4-5-6-7

All good Juniors go to Heaven
When they get there they will yell
See the Seniors down in—
Ra-a-a, Ra-a-a, Rah, Rah!!

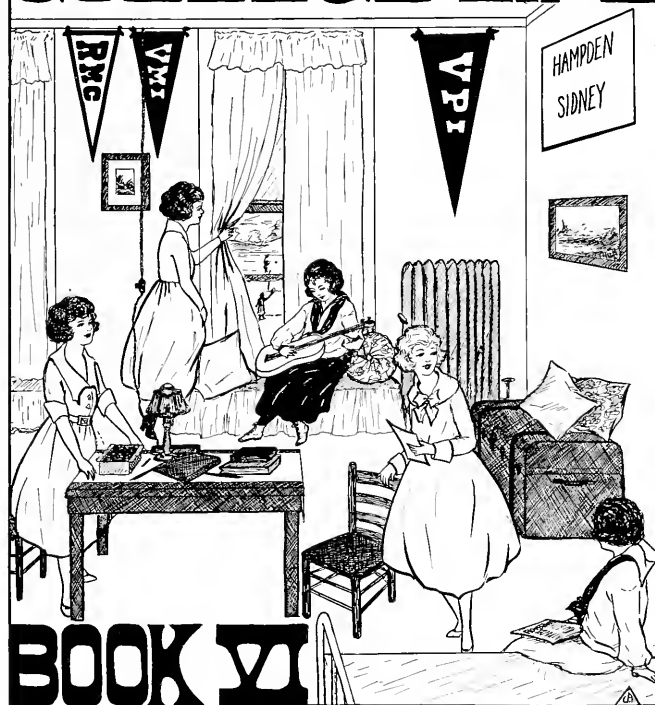

FOURTH YEAR

One, two, three, four.
Who are we for?
Third Year, Third Year,
Rah, Rah, Rah.

Who's gointa win, win?
Who's gointa win, win?
Who's gointa win, win, now?
We're gointa win, win.
We're gointa win, win.
We're gointa win, win, How?
Easy!!

COLLEGE LIFE

BOOK VI

The Flirt

It was a lovely day, but a discontented face peered through the window, taking in with unconcerned glances the beautiful surroundings.

"Nothing to do," Polly moaned. "Nobody left in this dull town but me."

"Never mind, dear," Her mother's soft voice comforted. "It is a shame, but the doctor knew best in advising you to stay at home and rest this month. You are so tired out, you know."

Polly only grunted. After a moment, "Guess I'll go out for a walk."

As she left the house her mother called after her, "Don't forget, Pol, there's company for dinner tonight." This made matters worse. "Some fussy old friend of Dad's coming to spoil a good night," she guessed.

After walking a while, she drew near a park. On a bench near the street lazily lounged a young man reading a newspaper. She could not see his face, but his feet looked very satisfying, she decided. Suddenly an idea struck her. She would do it! Nobody need know and she would have some fun. She deserved it.

As she drew nearer the young man, he lowered his paper. Polly hurried up to him with outstretched hands. "Why, Jimmie, what are you doing here?" she asked. "I thought you were in another part of the world. Oh, this is such a delightful surprise! Why didn't you let us know you were coming?"

The young man's first expression of astonishment and puzzlement turned to one of delight. He himself had an idea. This beautiful young girl thought that she knew him. He would take advantage of the situation, for the town was unusually dull and he was horribly in need of company. But what part was he to play to keep up her thought of knowing him? He would proceed cautiously at first until he could find out more from her.

"Why, my dear, I had forgot that you lived here or I should certainly have let you known. My! what a beauty you've grown to be!"

Horrors! Did the man think he knew her, too? That would never do. But she had to play the game. "Oh! dear, you always were such a flatterer. But how is Dot?"

Who was Dot? His wife? His sister? His sweetheart? or who? "Why Dot is doing fine, thank you. You remember the terrible fusses we used to have?"

Oh! dear, did he really know a Dot? and suppose he asked questions about her which she could not answer!

"Why, of course, I remember; how do you reckon I could forget? But it seems ages since I saw you."

She now began to wonder how old he was and if she was supposed to have known him very long. She guessed he was about twenty-eight. He was very good looking, she decided. Suppose he went home with her and Mother and Dad would have to be introduced to him. Oh, dear! She must leave, but how could she? Horrors! What was she saying? That they walk down the street? Suppose that they should meet some one she knew! She awakened to his voice drawling lazily, "You know I'm anxious to see your father and mother. I was so fond of them."

"Oh! what a pickle to be in," she thought. "Why, I'm so sorry, but I must go to the dressmaker's right away. I'm fifteen minutes late now and it's very important. You must excuse me. Tell me where you're staying and I'll call you up later."

"I'm stopping at the Lexington, but give me your address. I may call, may I not?"

"Oh! I shan't tell you, for you should be ashamed of neglecting us as you have. I may tell you tonight when I call you up, but certainly not now."

"Well, I guess I deserved it," he said as she hurried down the street. He watched her, saying to himself, "Never see her again I guess. Cute little trick, though, and I've enjoyed myself immensely. What would Marian say if she knew! I'll tell her. She'll enjoy it."

In the meantime Polly had rushed home and congratulated herself on getting out of the scrape as she did. She dressed for dinner and started down to meet the company—a Mr. Keith, an old friend of Dad's, as mother explained.

She passed down the stairway and pausing on the bottom step looked into the library. Horrors! There sat the young man she had met that evening, talking with her mother and father. What could she do! Plead a headache? No! she'd have more fun.

She rang for the maid and told her to call her mother. She argued and reasoned with her mother and finally won her to her side. She was to go back up stairs, dress up in her grandmother's clothes, powder her hair and wrinkle her face so as to look like her grandmother who was away on a visit. Mother would tell Dad so that he would not be surprised.

A half an hour later she came down to dinner making a perfect picture of an old grandmother. She walked slowly into the dining room and apologized in a soft voice for being late. She talked little during the meal, but after supper while her mother was arranging the dishes with the maid and Dad had left the room for a moment, she was left alone to entertain Mr. Keith. He was very polite and attentive to the "old lady" and seemed to be interested in her. He talked to her of different things and began to tell her something of his own life.

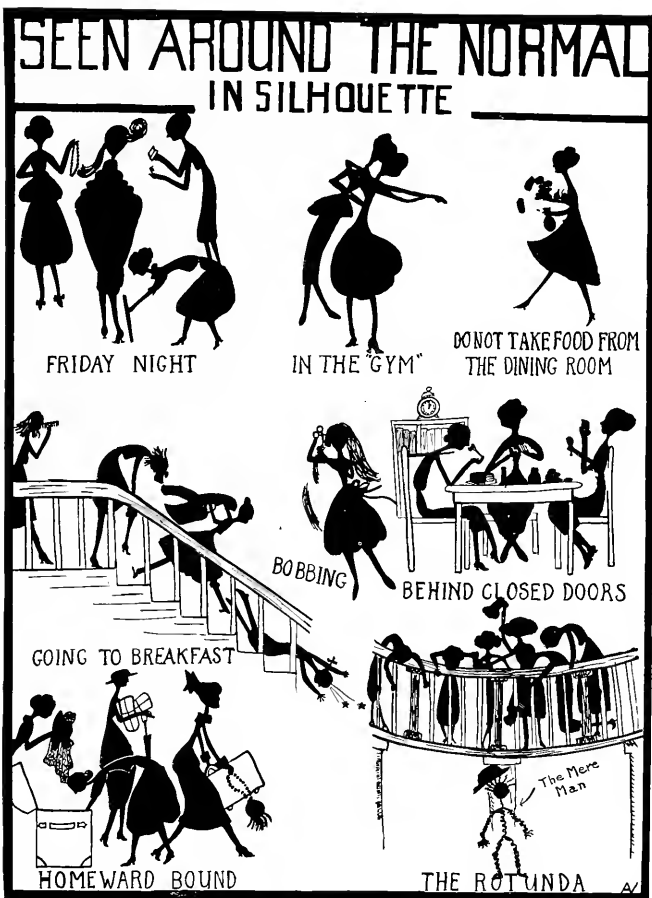

"You should come to Valley Side," he said. "You'd like it. I want you to know my wife and little boy. Why——"

The little old lady had fallen back and seemed to be fainting.

"I'm only warm," she gasped. "Call the maid."

The maid came and assisted her to her own room. She soon felt better and began to think of her experiences of the day. Going to the mirror, she said to her reflection, "You incorrigible flirt! You deserved it all. It serves you right. I hope you've had enough excitement to last you all the rest of this month. I also hope you've learned a lesson and will remember that the one who always gets herself into the most trouble is—a flirt!"

MELANCHOLIA IN B FLAT

Part 1

You saunter into class one day
Thinking "Oh, this lesson is a cinch!"

Part 2

In comes the teacher and proceeds with wicked zest,
To write upon the board ten questions—
HORRORS—a pop test!

Part 3

Your jaw drops; there you are, at bay!
Immediately your mind begins to flinch,

Part 4

Your memory is rusty; for time you're muchly prest;
And the end of this catastrophe—well, you flunk the test!

MERE CHANCE

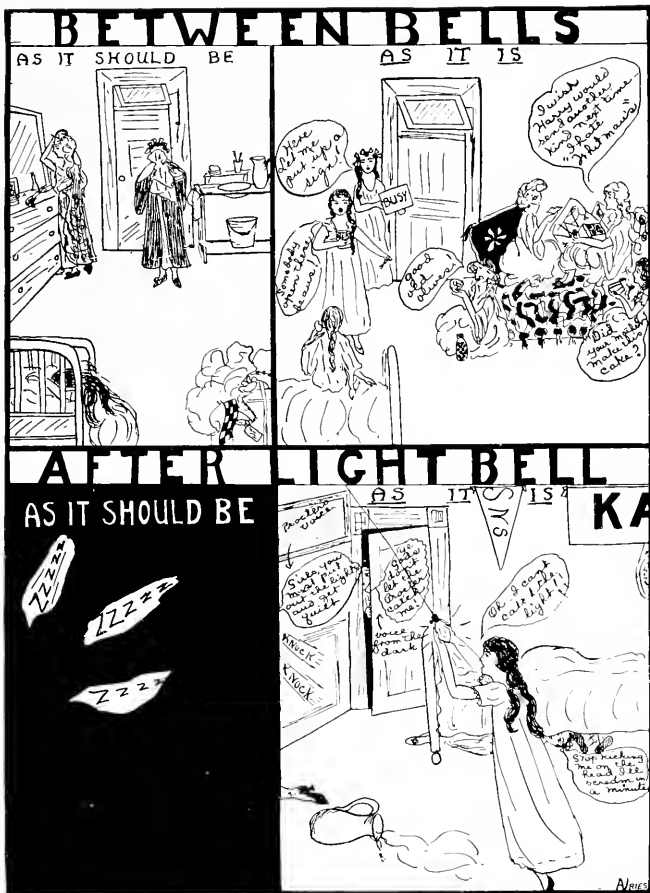

4:30—5:15

When teacher's calculating eye
Is fixed on you, you wonder why
You ever chose that front-row seat,
That's placed you so you are forced to meet
Her glances!

But when her question is directed
To another, who's neglected
To prepare that lesson—Oh, it
Makes you happy if you know it,
By chance!!

Sing me to sleep and let me rest—
Of all this hour the end is best;
No one's awake, love, none, I fear,
In all this class, but teacher dear!

Oh, I am weary, class is so long—
I want to hear only that blessed class gong—
Periods are long, dear—this one's a bore—
To stay late is wrong, dear, run for the door!

We May Reply

3rd. Prof.

As I came back to school this year
A-walking down the hall,
I saw an awful skeleton sign
Which almost made me bawl.
The head was cut from paper black,
With holes for eyes so white,
Bot the thing that made cold shivers come
Just hinted at a fight.
For written in red on top his head
In letters big and bold
Were "K. I. L.—Cave Adsum,
Just do as you are told."
I've waited days, I've waited weeks
To hear what I must do,
But to this day—so near the end
Je ne sais pas tout.

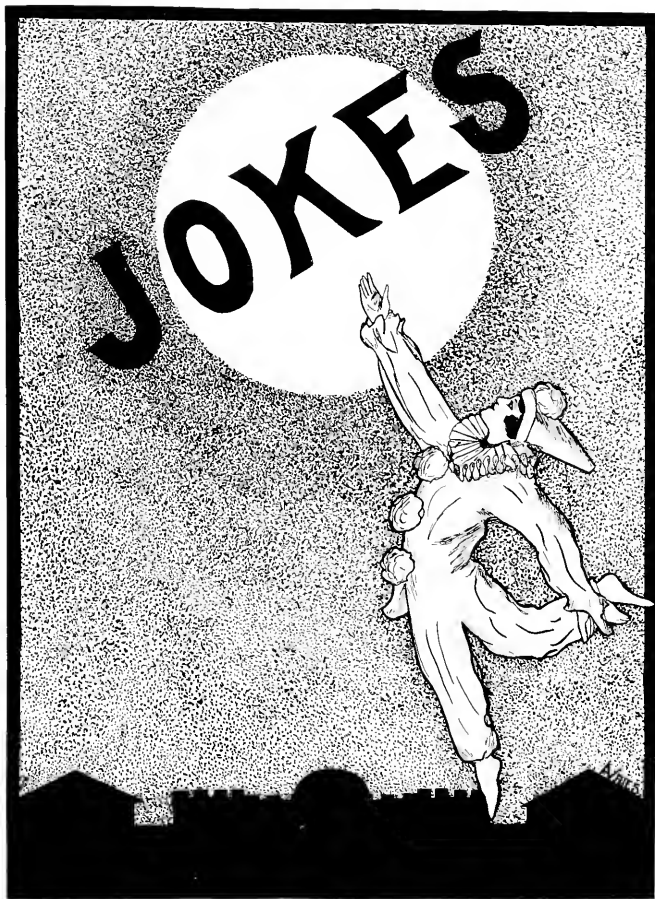

4th. Prof.

If you will listen, 3rd Profs., so young,
To what I tell to you;
You'll soon know why you do not know
The K. I. L. secrets true.
When people show by word and deed
How much they'd like a bid
Then somehow we just all agree
To keep our secrets hid.
But if by attitude so humble and so meek
You really show how sorry you are
To have locked us from our lair,
Shivering in the cold and chilly air,
Then, comrades, we'll surpse you
How fast we'll prepare the spread
In banquet halls—given only to us,
When others are in bed.

Gnaturally

The gnat's a gnaughty little beast—
Gno matter where I am, he's gnear;
At gnoon he g nibbles at my gneck,
At gnight he dances 'gneath my ear.

This Gnuisance should not gnettle me
By trying up my gnose to fly—
Gnor should he make me gnervous, gnext,
By gnearily drowning in my eye!

Jokes

Training school pupil—(using "human beings" in a sentence "We are human beans."

Miss Robinson—(looking at a bald headed doll) "That certainly reminds me of some one."

Mary—"Do you like cod-fish balls?"

Louise—"Er—I don't know, I never attended any."

Student teacher—"What did Alexander do?"

Pupil—"Spread Greece all over the world."

Student teacher—(explaining problem) "You all watch this board while I go through it."

Marie Baldwin—"People at home never go to church when I am not there."

Anna Vries—"Why? Are you the clock?"

Marie—"No, the bell."

Student teacher—(giving a test)—"When was Washington inaugurated?"

Pupil—"Washington was irrigated on the 4th of March."

Minor Jones—"There are no wits in this school at all."

Sallie Barksdale—"No, but there are plenty of half wits."

Marie Baldwin—"I believe I'll wear electric bands around my hips to reduce."

Anna Vries—"How shocking."

Dorothy Schaefer—(during test) "How do you spell embrace?"

Mr. Coyner—(blushing deeply) "E-M-B-R-A-C-E"

Student teacher—(reading about first Thanksgiving to pupils) "What is a corselet?"

Pupil—"Something ladies wear."

Teacher—"Illustrate the three genders."

Pupil—"Masculine, he; feminine, she; and neuter, they."

Dorothy Schaefer—"William, what does "commerce" mean?"

William—"To trade."

Dorothy—"Right. Now use it in a sentence."

William—"I commerced my dog for a cat."

Junior—on writing acceptance to a bid frantically asked, "Do you put "except" or "accept?"

Pattie—"Shall I sing my song with a refrain to it?"

Sallie—"Oh, please refrain."

She—"You deserve credit for selecting a ring like that."

He—"So the jeweler thought."

Student teacher—(after working a hard algebra problem) "Now, do you all understand that x equals 0?"

Pupil—"Well, have you been working all this time for nothing?"

What's funnier than a one arm man trying to wind his watch?
A glass eye at a keyhole.

Mildred—"You say you heard suspicious noises in your room. What did they sound like?"

Lucy—"Like heat in the radiator, but of course it could not have been that."

Mary—"You'll have to help me on Latin today."

Lillian—"Why today?"

Margaret Lawson—"My uncle has some beautiful horses."

Lila Sinclair—"Oh yes, he is a horticulturist, isn't he?"

Annual staff—"Don't let's have little pictures of the faculty this year."

Mary—"No, let's have jokes in place of them."

She bent over him and gazed longingly into his one good eye.

"Je t'adore," she murmured, every syllable a caress.

He looked up at her and answered gruffly, "Aw, go shut it yourself."

A Lively Evening

She sings a little song or two,

They have a little chat,

They make a little candy fudge,

And then he takes his hat;

He holds her hand and says, "Good night,"

As sweetly as he can,

Ain't that a swell evening

For a great big healthy man???
